New, Broader Trade Policy Being Urged

Ike, Truman Aides Join Kennedyite in Launching Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—A drive for re-enactment and broadening of the reciprocal trade program—one of the toughest tasks facing President Kennedy's legislative lieutenants—has been launched with the help of officials from three administrations.

Recommendations for "a giant step" away from remaining restrictions on international trade and a trade partnership with the Common Market, the potent new economic entity in Europe, came from Christian A. Herter, a secretary of state in the Eisenhower administration, and from William L. Clayton, undersecretary of state for economic affairs in the Truman administration.

And the Kennedy administration spoke in much the same terms through George W. Ball.

Ball, in a speech Wednesday night for a trade convention in New York, called for "open competitive trading" and assailed what he termed the defeatism of those who unduly feared competition with the Common Market.

The Reciprocal Trade Act comes up for renewal next year with sentiment for protecting U.S. industries against foreign competition apparently stronger than at most times during the past several decades.

Ball, whose speech was understood to have been approved by President Kennedy, also said the President should have authority to make "much broader and more ambitious bargains on behalf of United States industry" and that there must be a basis for an open trading world extending beyond the Common Market.

He also said the federal government should be empowered to help industries which cannot stand up to foreign competition. They should have special assistance in transferring both labor and capital into other fields, he said.

Among the broadening changes recommended by Herter and Clayton was specific authority for the President "to negotiate tariff reduction across the board in place of his present authority to negotiate item by item."

They called also for a trade partnership with the Common Market and leadership by the United States in creating a free worldwide economic community. The Herter-Clayton report was submitted by invitation of a Senate-Economic Subcommittee.

Cincy Pacifist Carried into Jail Again

BROWNSVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A white minister from Cincinnati, here to help a Negro civil rights drive, is on a jail cell fast.

Sheriff S. J. Hunter said the Rev. Maurice McCrackin, 55, of Cincinnati has ignored food since his arrest last Sunday.

The short, gray-haired United Presbyterian minister was carried back to his cell Wednesday after refusing to pay a $50 fine imposed on a charge of loitering.

Officers had to carry him every step of the way to the courtroom and back after he adopted an attitude of passive resistance that included rejection of legal counsel. Asked by Haywood County General Sessions Judge Sam Lewis how he would plead, the minister replied:

"I am pleading for justice in Africa, India, Cincinnati, Brownsville and everywhere."

McCrackin served six months in federal prison in 1959 after refusing to pay income taxes because part of the money goes to buy armaments. Officers had to carry him in for that trial, too.

Ballots Blank for 2 Villages In Tuesday's Election Race

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series of three articles detailing issues and candidates on the ballot in Tuesday's general election.

Blank ballots will confront voters in two Pickaway County villages when they go to the polls Tuesday. A third village has just one candidate listed on the ticket. And county Board of Elections officials are anticipating some midnight work tabulating write-in votes.

These situations highlight a review of candidates to be voted upon by citizens in villages and townships in the general election.

Neither Commercial Point nor Darbyville have any names printed on the ballot for village offices. To be selected by write-in votes in both villages are a mayor, clerk, treasurer and six councilmen. Peter M. Martin Sr. is the only person officially seeking office in Orient. He is running for mayor. A clerk-treasurer and six councilmen also must be chosen.

Elsewhere in village elections, the New Holland ticket shows Mayor Joseph H. Gooley and Clerk W. F. Gillespie are unopposed for re-election. R. L. Both the village treasurer and three board of public affairs members must be named by write-in.

Bidinger Case Rejected by Supreme Court

The Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday rejected the appeal of George Bidinger from dismissal of Pickaway County Courts of his suit against the city of Circleville to enforce a contract allegedly giving him exclusive garbage collection rights.

Bidinger originally had filed a $190,000 damage suit against the city, stating that officials here failed to enforce an ordinance giving him exclusive garbage hauling rights.

A demurrer filed later by the city was upheld in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court.

Bidinger's appeal to the Fourth District Court of Appeals also was dismissed.

Bidinger was represented by Attorney Harry Margulis of Ashville in his latest appeal to the Ohio Supreme Court. Solicitor Kenneth Robbins and his assistant, Emmitt Crist, handled the case for Circleville.

Maximum Penalty Is Handed Boy, 18

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP)—Municipal Court Judge William J. Jones has thrown the book at an 18-year-old high school senior who pleaded guilty to charges of making two false bomb reports which caused a disruption of classes at Chillicothe High School.

Russell Miller was fined $1,000 and sentenced to one year in the Cincinnati workhouse—the maximum fine and sentence for such an offense—Wednesday.

Police said Miller admitted telephoning the high school twice last month to report a bomb had been planted. On both occasions all students were marched to the football stadium while authorities searched for the alleged bomb.

Miller was picked up by police after a fellow student reported that Miller had been bragging about his actions.

'Death Ray' Tests In Nevada Hinted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The underground test caverns in Nevada may be the site for the first tentative experiments on the theory of a neutron bomb—sometimes referred to as a "death ray" bomb—which would kill without leaving wide destruction.

When preliminary field research might start or whether it had begun was a tightly held government secret.

But the theory of an "N-bomb" seemed to suggest that the first step would be to find out whether the nuclear reaction would behave in a test as has been worked out by slide rule, computers and projection of nuclear physics facts.

The theory is that a harnessed nuclear detonation can be made to produce a burst of intense radiation by high-speed, deep-penetration, lethal neutrons—without creating the tremendous shock, intense heat and radioactive contamination of present nuclear bombs.

Such neutrons, various experts have suggested, could penetrate

2 American Scientists Get Nobel Prizes

STOCKHOLM (SP)—The last two 1961 Nobel prizes were awarded today to two American scientists and a West German. All are now working in California.

The prize in chemistry went to Dr. Melvin Calvin of the University of California for his work in photosynthesis.

The physics prize went jointly to Dr. Robert Hofstadter of Stanford University and Dr. Rudolf Moessbauer of Munich University for basic atomic research. Moessbauer is now working at the California Institute of Technology.

Each prize is worth 250,000 Swedish crowns—$48,300. Hofstadter and Moessbauer will split that amount.

In its citation, the 140-member Swedish Royal Academy of Science said Hofstadter was honored for "his pioneering studies of electron scattering in atomic nuclei and for his thereby achieved discoveries concerning the structure of the nucleons."

This constituted one of the greatest steps toward harnessing the effect of a nuclear reaction and making peaceful use of atomic power possible.

Moessbauer was cited "for his research concerning the resonance absorption of gamma radiation and his discovery in this connection of the effect which bears his name."

The German scientist's work is of fundamental importance in all atomic research and is a factor in reckoning the chances for future space flights between planets when radiation of other kinds have to be overcome.

Robert Francis and Donald Humble seek the three board of public affairs posts.

Ashville's candidates are assured of election. Richard Bozman is the only nominee for mayor, and Robert E. Glick is unopposed for clerk.

John E. Little, Charles W. Morrison, Virgil C. Waldon, Richard P. Cook, George E. Founds and Chester Gloyd are to be voted upon for the six council seats and Russell P. Hoover, William Plum and Everett W. Seeds are on the ballot for three Public Affairs panel posts. No candidate filed for treasurer.

In Harrisburg, on the Pickaway-Franklin County line, all candidates are unopposed. Dwight DeVoss is running for mayor and Hazel DeLong for clerk-treasurer. Marvin Chaffin, James T. Everett, Delbert Johnson, Leon May,

They made their own delivery at the White House, and got assurance that the relay to Moscow would be carried out.

Ove the nation the rallies took various forms.

In New York some 200 women held separate demonstrations outside the Soviet Union's U.N. delegation building and the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission operations office. Movie actress Carroll Baker carried a sign reading "Children need milk stromium free."

"End the arms race—not the human race," was the theme of placards carried by some 2,000 who marched in Los Angeles.

In Cleveland, Ohio, Mrs. Cyrus Eaton, wife of the industrialist who has met frequently with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, was among 50 who gathered in the public square carrying signs and passing out pamphlets opposing nuclear tests.

In Chicago some 400 marched downtown and another 600 met in suburban Winnetka.

Daring Boy Climbs Tree But His Reward Is Death

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Christopher Murray, 10, told two friends Wednesday night he could climb higher than they could. Then he climbed a 35-foot pine tree but never came down.

Utility linemen removed his body from the tree. He apparently was electrocuted by a 2,400-volt wire within the reach of the tree.

He loves it better'n I do," Weldon, 68, commented.

Brownie has been known to get a few drinks too many under his collar and to act up as if he had lost his horse sense. But Weldon said his plowhorse-pet had not had a snort for several weeks prior to his illness.

Two weeks ago Brownie became unsure of foot. Weldon called in two veterinarians but they couldn't help. Brownie died recently at an age equivalent to 104 in humans.

One of the vets said Brownie's death may have been caused by the "Staggers" or by sclerosis of the liver.

"Staggers" stems either from eating moldy, poisonous food or a virus carried by mosquitoes and the illness affects a horse's brain resulting in loss of coordination, explained the vet.

Now that Brownie isn't around anymore, Weldon figures he will have to be more watchful when he goes to town for a few drinks.

When the horse accompanied him, Weldon didn't worry about getting a little woozy—Brownie would pull him back in the wagon observing traffic lights without any guidance on the reins.

Once in his lifetime Weldon was nabbed for drunken driving. That was the time he left Brownie at home and drove a truck to town.

Nuclear Tests in Air To Be Readied by U.S.

Kennedy Plans 2-Purpose Trip

World Problems Tied To Political Jaunt

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy flies into the New York-New Jersey area today to plug for Democratic candidates and to hold private talks on grave international issues.

In his first campaign speech since he took office Kennedy reportedly intends tonight to avoid personalities and to boost his administration's aims and record.

U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson will ride the Air Force D6B prop plane with Kennedy after attending a White House meeting of the National Security Council. In New York, Kennedy will confer with Arthur H. Dean—and quite possibly others—at his hotel suite.

No topics were announced, but Dean has been chief U.S. negotiator at the Geneva test ban talks which collapsed when the Soviet union started exploding nuclear devices in the atmosphere Sept. 1. He also is a member of the U.N. Delegation to the U.N. General Assembly.

Politicking on the New York program is brief, but dominates Kennedy's stop at Trenton, N.J. tonight. He will speak there on behalf of former Judge Richard J. Hughes, the Democratic candidate for governor against James P. Mitchell, who is secretary of labor under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In New York, Mayor Robert F. Wagner, campaigning for re-election, arranged to greet Kennedy at LaGuardia Airport and ride with the President in a motorcade to the hotel. Wagner, according to most New York reports, is favored to beat State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz and win another term at City Hall.

The drive in from the airport is Kennedy's only scheduled appearance with Wagner. He has no speeches on tap for the city.

Supremacy Of Whites To Be 'Proved'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The State of Alabama has hired a scientist and a lawyer to try to prove, the lawyer says, that white persons are superior to Negroes intellectually.

The Montgomery Advertiser reported that approach to the race issue in today's editions.

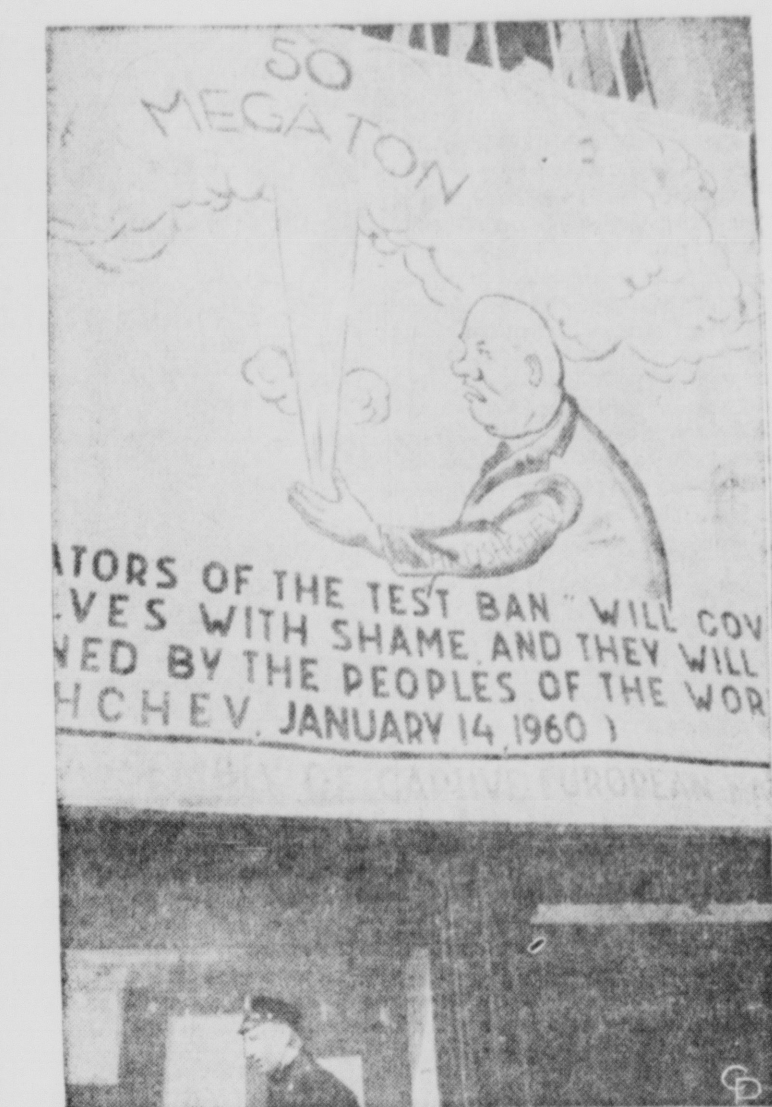

The newspaper quoted attorney Ralph Smith of Montgomery, retained by Gov. John Patterson to represent him in racial litigation, as giving these details of the arrangement:

Smith, with Patterson's approval, entered into an agreement last February with Dr. Wesley Critz George, retired member of the University of North Carolina School of Medicine faculty, to make a detailed study of anthropological differences between the races.

A newsman made the matter public after noticing a $3,000 payment to George from the governor's emergency fund.

Smith said he and Patterson felt that "we should explore every avenue in our efforts to preserve racial segregation."

He added: "I think that many people in the South sincerely believe that the mental capacity of a Negro is inferior to that of a white, yet these same people think that science has proved to the contrary. Actually, scientific data supports the contention that the white race, intellectually, is superior to the Negro, and that is the point we seek to make with this study."

ANGRY SIGNS OF TIMES — Across from the UN building, a huge sign depicts Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev with a 50-megaton bomb erupting from his hand. Underneath it are Khrushchev's words of Jan. 14, 1960, when he said that test ban violators "will cover themselves with shame and they will be condemned by the peoples of the world." Sign was put there by Assembly of Captive European Nations organization.

Columbus Policemen Respond, Local Officer Most Grateful

Mrs. Roderick List, 819 S. Washington St., underwent orthopedic surgery yesterday in the Riverside Methodist Hospital, Columbus, largely through a "helping hand" of the Columbus Police Department.

Mrs. List, wife of Sgt. Roderick List of the Circleville Police Department, was scheduled for surgery Monday. But according to the local police department all operations in Columbus hospitals had been delayed, except for emergencies, due to a low blood supply.

Sgt. List informed city police today his wife was able to have the operation yesterday through blood donations from Columbus City Police.

He said the operation had been scheduled for yesterday, but was cancelled again because of the low blood supply.

HOWEVER, when he arrived at the hospital, the doctor told him his wife was to have surgery immediately.

Kennedy Tells American Policy

Explosions To Hinge On Security Needs

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said today the United States will make preparations to set off nuclear tests in the atmosphere if they become necessary to safeguard free world security.

Kennedy, in a statement read personally to newsmen after a meeting of the National Security Council, said the United States would never test in the atmosphere for political reasons.

Atmospheric tests, which spread radioactive fallout, would be resorted to only if determined necessary to maintain U.S. responsibilities in the world, Kennedy said.

Even if such a situation is deemed to exist, he said, tests in the atmosphere would be undertaken only to the degree necessary for "orderly development" of nuclear weapons.

And then, Kennedy said, a point would have been reached in which progress would not be possible without such weapons tests.

Kennedy once again emphasized that the United States is strong militarily—strong enough to retaliate with devastation if attacked.

Kennedy also said the United States, to demonstrate its nuclear capabilities, would not have to fire a nuclear explosive of 50 megatons or more such as the Soviets detonated this week.

The United States is "carefully assessing" the current series of Soviet tests, Kennedy said.

The Russians, according to U.S. announcements, have so far exploded at least 28 devices in the air since they broke the 1958 moratorium and resumed tests on Sept. 1.

This country has announced three underground tests of its own since the Russian tests began.

Kennedy said the Soviet detonations have been in "complete disregard for the welfare of mankind."

The Soviet tests in the atmosphere have loosed radioactive debris which comes to the earth as fallout. There is no fallout from the underground tests the United States has conducted.

Kennedy accused the Russians of preparing for tests while negotiating toward a test ban treaty at Geneva and "then contemptuously" unleashing fallout over the world with its atmospheric explosions.

He called this a piece of the "Soviet campaign of fear," but said it was also a possibly important series of tests which would enable Soviet leaders and scientists to improve their capabilities.

Endorsement Ads Slated for Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission is conducting a preliminary investigation into advertising that claims a large number of persons have endorsed a given product.

An FTC spokesman said Wednesday night that Daniel J. Murphy, head of the commission's Deceptive Practices Division, has written to 12 firms asking them to provide the facts on which they base certain advertising claims. The companies were not named.

The spokesman said Murphy's queries were informal and that replies were not required. But he added that other action may be taken if satisfactory replies are not forthcoming.

He said television, newspaper and magazine advertising was involved.

Police said gold worth nearly $700,000 was loaded aboard the plane at London Airport. The aircraft landed first at Basle, and when it arrived at Zurich, one of the crates was missing.

Daring Boy Climbs Tree But His Reward Is Death

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Christopher Murray, 10, told two friends Wednesday night he could climb higher than they could. Then he climbed a 35-foot pine tree but never came down.

Utility linemen removed his body from the tree. He apparently was electrocuted by a 2,400-volt wire within the reach of the tree.

"He loves it better'n I do," Weldon, 68, commented. Brownie has been known to get a few drinks too many under his collar and to act up as if he had lost his horse sense. But Weldon said his plowhorse-pet had not had a snort for several weeks prior to his illness.

Two weeks ago Brownie became unsure of foot. Weldon called in two veterinarians but they couldn't help. Brownie died recently at an age equivalent to 104 in humans.

One of the vets said Brownie's death may have been caused by the "Staggers" or by sclerosis of the liver.

"Staggers" stems either from eating moldy, poisonous food or a virus carried by mosquitoes and the illness affects a horse's brain resulting in loss of coordination, explained the vet.

Now that Brownie isn't around

Nuclear Tests in Air To Be Readied by U.S.

Kennedy Plans 2-Purpose Trip

World Problems Tied To Political Jaunt

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy flies into the New York-New Jersey area today to plug for Democratic candidates and to hold private talks on grave international issues.

In his first campaign speech since he took office Kennedy reportedly intends tonight to avoid personalities and to boost his administration's aims and record.

U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson will ride the Air Force DC6B prop plane with Kennedy after attending a White House meeting of the National Security Council. In New York, Kennedy will confer with Arthur H. Dean—and quite possibly others—at his hotel suite.

No topics were announced, but Dean has been chief U.S. negotiator at the Geneva test ban talks which collapsed when the Soviet union started exploding nuclear devices in the atmosphere Sept. 1. He also is a member of the U.S. Delegation to the U.N. General Assembly.

Politicking on the New York program is brief, but dominates Kennedy's stop at Trenton, N.J. tonight. He will speak there on behalf of former Judge Richard J. Hughes, the Democratic candidate for governor against James P. Mitchell, who was secretary of labor under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In New York, Mayor Robert F. Wagner, campaigning for re-election, arranged to greet Kennedy at LaGuardia Airport and ride with the President in a motorcade to the hotel. Wagner, according to most New York reports, is favored to beat State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz and win another term at City Hall.

The drive in from the airport is Kennedy's only scheduled appearance with Wagner. He has no speeches on tap for the city.

Supremacy Of Whites To Be 'Proved'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The State of Alabama has hired a scientist and a lawyer to try to prove, the lawyer says, that white persons are superior to Negroes intellectually.

The Montgomery Advertiser reported that approach to the race issue in today's editions.

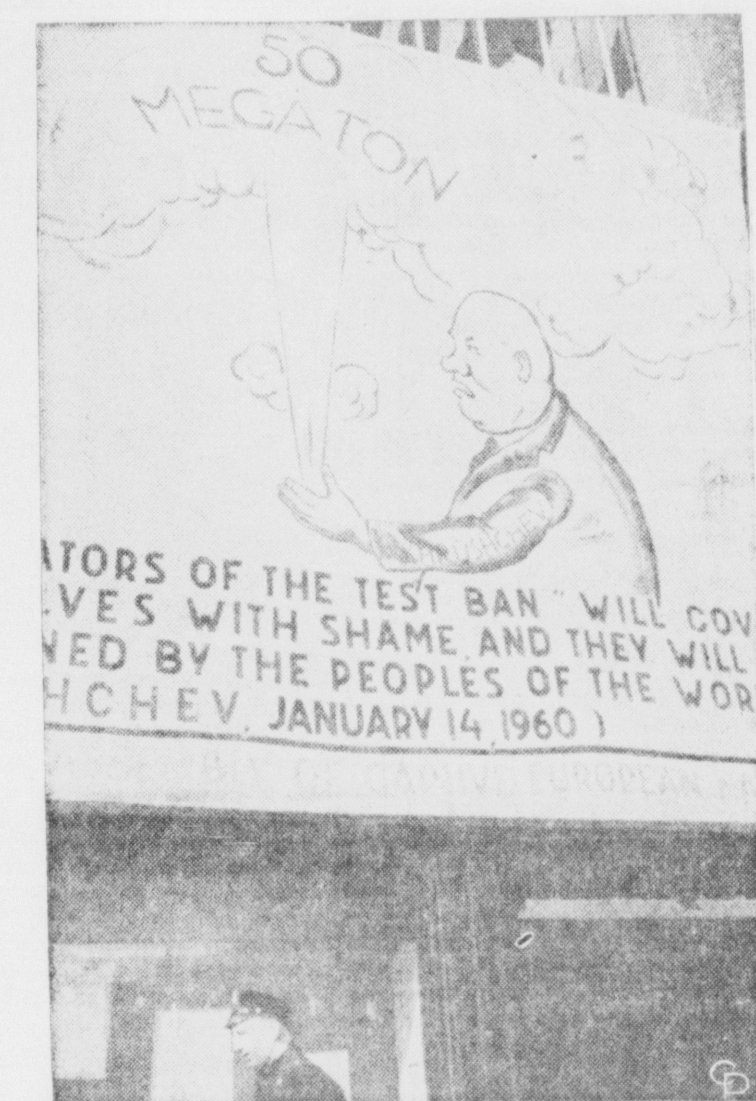

The newspaper quoted attorney Ralph Smith of Montgomery, retained by Gov. John Patterson to represent him in racial litigation, as giving these details of the arrangement:

Smith, with Patterson's approval, entered into an agreement last February with Dr. Wesley Critz George, retired member of the University of North Carolina School of Medicine faculty, to make a detailed study of anthropological differences between the races.

A newsman made the matter public after noticing a $3,000 payment to George from the governor's emergency fund.

Smith said he and Patterson felt that "we should explore every avenue in our efforts to preserve racial segregation."

He added: "I think that many people in the South sincerely believe that the mental capacity of a Negro is inferior to that of a white, yet these same people think that science has proved to the contrary. Actually, scientific data supports the contention that the white race, intellectually, is superior to the Negro, and that is the point we seek to make with this study."

ANGRY SIGNS OF TIMES — Across from the UN building, a huge sign depicts Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev with a 50-megaton bomb erupting from his hand. Underneath it are Khrushchev's words of Jan. 14, 1960, when he said that test ban violators "will cover themselves with shame and they will be punished by the peoples of the world." Sign was put there by Assembly of Captive European Nations organization.

Columbus Policemen Respond, Local Officer Most Grateful

Mrs. Roderick List, 819 S. Washington St., underwent orthopedic surgery yesterday in the Riverside Methodist Hospital, Columbus, largely through a "helping hand" of the Columbus Police Department.

Mrs. List, wife of Sgt. Roderick List of the Circleville Police Department, was scheduled for surgery Monday. But according to the local police department all operations in Columbus hospitals had been delayed, except for emergencies, due to a low blood supply.

Sgt. List informed city police today his wife was able to have the operation yesterday through blood donations from Columbus City Police.

He said the operation had been scheduled for yesterday, but was canceled again because of the low blood supply.

HOWEVER, when he arrived at the hospital, the doctor told him his wife was to have surgery immediately.

A quick investigation of the surprising turn of events disclosed that Sgt. List's sister, a Columbus resident, had informed the Columbus Police Department of the circumstances.

"Within 30 minutes," Sgt. List said, "ten police cruisers had arrived at the hospital to donate blood." The operation was successfully performed.

Mrs. List's room number at the hospital is 559.

Red Cross, CD Set Plans for Special Class

A first aid class for married women, including lectures on fallout, is planned here through joint efforts of the local Civil Defense and Red Cross units.

Harry Timmons, city civil defense director, said it is hoped at least 20 or 25 married women will take part in the special course. He said instruction will start next week or soon after if the class can be formed.

Classes will be conducted by the Pickaway County Red Cross Chapter. Mrs. Eileen Bowmar and Mrs. Helen West, both registered nurses, are slated to give the instruction.

Timmons said considerable emphasis will be placed on the fallout lectures. A full course on first aid also will be given.

IF CLASS membership reaches 25, classes will be conducted at Memorial Hall. Instruction will be at Red Cross headquarters, Watt and Pickaway Sts., if the number of registrants is less than 20.

Timmons said he has received booklets containing information on construction of a "Poor Man's" fallout shelter. The literature is available at Memorial Hall.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—For "Aunt Ginny" Rankin, the elixir of life is a cup of hot water every morning before breakfast.

"The best thing in the world for you," says "Aunt Ginny," Miss Virginia Rankin.

She will be 103 years old Monday.

Kennedy Tells American Policy

Explosions To Hinge On Security Needs

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said today the United States will make preparations to set off nuclear tests in the atmosphere if they become necessary to safeguard free world security.

Kennedy, in a statement read personally to newsmen after a meeting of the National Security Council, said the United States would never test in the atmosphere for political reasons.

Atmospheric tests, which spread radioactive fallout, would be esorted to only if determined necessary to maintain U.S. responsibilities in the world, Kennedy said.

Even if such a situation is deemed to exist, he said, tests in the atmosphere would be undertaken only to the degree necessary for "orderly development" of nuclear weapons.

And then, Kennedy said, a point would have been reached in which progress would not be possible without such weapons tests.

Kennedy once again emphasized that the United States is strong militarily—strong enough to retaliate with devastation if attacked.

Kennedy also said the United States, to demonstrate its nuclear capabilities, would not have to fire a nuclear explosive of 50 megatons or more such as the Soviets detonated this week.

The United States is "carefully assessing" the current series of Soviet tests, Kennedy said.

The Russians, according to U.S. announcements, have so far exploded at least 28 devices in the air since they broke the 1958 moratorium and resumed tests on Sept. 1.

This country has announced three underground tests of its own since the Russian tests began.

Kennedy said the Soviet detonations have been in "complete disregard for the welfare of mankind."

The Soviet tests in the atmosphere have loosed radioactive debris which comes to the earth as fallout. There is no fallout from the underground tests the United States has conducted.

Kennedy accused the Russians of preparing for tests while negotiating toward a test ban treaty at Geneva and "then contemptuously" unleashing fallout over the world with its atmospheric explosions.

He called this a piece of the "Soviet campaign of fear," but said it was also a possibly important series of tests which would enable Soviet leaders and scientists to improve their capabilities.

Endorsement Ads Slated for Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission is conducting a preliminary investigation into advertising that claims a large number of persons have endorsed a given product.

An FTC spokesman said Wednesday night that Daniel J. Murphy, head of the commission's Deceptive Practices Division, has written to 12 firms asking them to provide the facts on which they base certain advertising claims. The companies were not named.

The spokesman said Murphy's queries were informal and that replies were not required. But he added that other action may be taken if satisfactory replies are not forthcoming.

He said television, newspaper and magazine advertising was involved.

$20,000 in Gold Missing From Swiss Airliner

LONDON (AP)—British and Swiss police are investigating the disappearance of more than $20,000 worth of gold from a Swiss airliner last Friday.

Police said gold worth nearly $700,000 was loaded aboard the plane at London Airport. The aircraft landed first at Basle, and when it arrived at Zurich, one of the crates was missing.

Chamber of Commerce Plans Close Watch on Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Admonishments to the Ohio General Assembly that the Ohio Chamber of Commerce would critically examine all proposed legislation affecting employers were made today.

Speaking at the Ohio Chamber's 68th annual meeting here was James J. West, vice chairman of its labor advisory council.

He said the legislative examination was necessary "to determine whether its net effect would be to encourage or discourage" additional investment in Ohio.

Included in the report was the committee's opposition to the "creation of any state agency that would give added strength to the already powerful bargaining position of organized labor unions."

A major Chamber task, presented by Dean Phillips, chairman of the social legislation committee, will be to prepare recommendations for amendments to the Ohio unemployment compensation law with particular emphasis on financing.

Announcement of a proposed chamber publication "on facts and figures dealing with fundamental economic and legislative matters" was made by Ralph Baldenhofer, chairman of the positive public relations committee.

The Ohio Chamber elected 22 district and group directors today at its annual meeting.

Elected to three-year terms were John W. Craig of Columbus, representing the central district; Herman F. Lehman of Dayton, representing manufacturing; Charles J. Miller of Cleveland, manufacturing; Martin L. Davey Jr. of Kent, northeastern district.

Also, Anthony Szymanski of Fremont, northwestern district; George J. Barthold of Steubenville, southwestern district; Wendell Weller of Urbana, agriculture, and A. Monroe Courtright of Westerville, press.

Among those elected for two-year terms were John A. Lawler of Middletown, air transportation; Dr. Novice G. Fawcett of Columbus, education; Charles E. Nail of Mansfield, insurance; Howard E. LeFever of Newark, motor transportation.

Sheriff Checks

Gas Theft Report

An attempted gas theft was reported to the Pickaway County Sheriff's office yesterday by an area school bus driver.

Don Kessler, Route 1, Orient, said two intruders were frightened away Halloween night while attempting to drain gas from a bus at his residence.

Kessler said a five-gallon can of gasoline was left behind in addition to a four-foot piece of garden hose apparently used to siphon the gas from the bus.

Track Tire Missing

Edward Hicks, Route 2, Orient, told sheriff's deputies yesterday a spare tire had been stolen from his 1961 pickup truck.

Hicks said the vehicle was parked beside his home. A pair of work gloves found on his door step apparently was used in the theft.

Hodge Named New Manager At Keg Center

William Hodge, 30, has been named manager of Prairie Lanes Recreation Center, it was announced today by owners of the local bowling establishment.

Hodge succeeds Frank Sosa, N. Court St., who managed the recreation center since it first opened about a year ago. The change was announced by Vincent Damico, president of the 10-man Chillicothe group which owns Prairie Lanes.

The new manager previously was head machinist at Prairie Lanes. He came here from Chillicothe after completing a special Brunswick maintenance course in Chicago.

Hodge said David Olney, 599 N. Court St., will remain as assistant manager. James Lindsey, Circleville, has been named head mechanic.

MRS. PAUL Howley, 320 Cedar Heights Road, will head operations of the center's snack bar. Hodge said the remainder of the work force will remain about the same.

He noted that more free schools on bowling will be offered in the future. Additional kegler leagues also are planned.

CD Groups Aid Officers

Circleville and Pickaway County Civil Defense units provided local sheriff and police departments with valuable assists during Tuesday and Wednesday night Halloween festivities.

Amateur radio operators of the combined CD group furnished radio communications to help city and county officers for the two nights. City and County Directors Harry Timmons and Ned Young said three radio cars patrolled the county and two cruised in the city.

A dispatching station was set up in Civil Defense headquarters at Memorial Hall.

Chamber of Commerce Plans Close Watch on Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Admonishments to the Ohio General Assembly that the Ohio Chamber of Commerce would critically examine all proposed legislation affecting employers were made today.

Speaking at the Ohio Chamber's 68th annual meeting here was James J. West, vice chairman of its labor advisory council.

He said the legislative examination was necessary "to determine whether its net effect would be to encourage or discourage" additional investment in Ohio.

Included in the report was the committee's opposition to the "creation of any state agency that would give added strength to the already powerful bargaining position of organized labor unions."

A major Chamber task, presented by Dean Phillips, chairman of the social legislation committee, will be to prepare recommendations for amendments to the Ohio unemployment compensation law with particular emphasis on financing.

Announcement of a proposed chamber publication "on facts and figures dealing with fundamental economic and legislative matters" was made by Ralph Baldenhofer, chairman of the positive public relations committee.

The Ohio Chamber elected 22 district and group directors today at its annual meeting.

Elected to three-year terms were John W. Craig of Columbus, representing the central district; Herman F. Lehman of Dayton, representing manufacturing; Charles J. Miller of Cleveland, manufacturing; Martin L. Davey Jr. of Kent, northeastern district.

Also, Anthony Szymanski of Fremont, northwestern district; George J. Barthold of Steubenville, southwestern district; Wendell Weller of Urbana, agriculture, and A. Monroe Courtwright of Westerville, press.

Among those elected for two-year terms were John A. Lawler

Sheriff Checks Gas Theft Report

An attempted gas theft was reported to the Pickaway County Sheriff's office yesterday by an area school bus driver.

Don Kessler, Route 1, Orient, said two intruders were frightened away Halloween night while attempting to drain gas from a bus at his residence.

Kessler said a five-gallon can of gasoline was left behind in addition to a four-foot piece of garden hose apparently used to siphon the gas from the bus.

Truck Tire Missing

Edward Hicks, Route 2, Orient, told sheriff's deputies yesterday a spare tire had been stolen from his 1961 pickup truck.

Hicks said the vehicle was parked beside his home. A pair of work gloves found on his door step apparently was used in the theft.

University Cancels Talk By Red Leader

CLEVELAND (AP) — Western Reserve University officials have canceled a scheduled appearance of a man said to be a member of the Communist National Committee.

The man, Daniel Rubin, 30, was to speak tonight to a group known as Students for Democratic Living in a room the group reserved at the Student Union, according to a university official.

Russell A. Griffin, dean of students, said the reservation was canceled because the student group had no official recognition on campus. He said one of two youths who signed the application is not a Western Reserve student.

Rubin, making the rounds of Ohio campuses, has been called by the FBI one of the two "most promising young Communists" in the nation. A congressional committee listed him as one of the 60 members of the Communist committee and a member of the Progressive Youth Organization Committee.

Rubin's appearances at Ohio State University and at Ohio University earlier this week touched off investigations. He previously visited Oberlin and Antioch colleges.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
An abundance of fresh fall fruits and vegetables provide thrifty shoppers with plenty of bargain targets this weekend.

In many cases, these will be tied in with sales of beef and pork in a variety of cuts. In beef, for example, round, chuck and rib roast are favored in the Northeast; steaks, ground beef and liver in the Southeast; and pot roasts and steaks in the Midwest.

In the Far West, loin of beef is reported 1 to 2 cents a pound lower.

Bacon is featured in the Southeast, Midwest and Far West, with some California markets trimming bacon 2 to 6 cents a pound.

These bargains reflect a four-week decline in the price of bellies (from which bacon is cut) at the wholesale level, but bellies turned higher at wholesale this week.

Other favored pork cuts include loin roast, chops, smoked hams and picnic and sausages. Southeast markets pay special attention to spare ribs and to veal steaks and cutlets.

Ample supplies of turkeys and broiling or frying chickens in most areas also have resulted in special sales on these items, too.

CD Groups Aid Officers

Circleville and Pickaway County Civil Defense units provided local sheriff and police departments with valuable assists during Tuesday and Wednesday night Halloween festivities.

Amateur radio operators of the combined CD group furnished radio communications to help city and county officers for the two nights. City and County Directors Harry Timmons and Ned Young said three radio cars patrolled the county and two cruised in the city.

A dispatching station was set up in Civil Defense headquarters at Memorial Hall.

Operators were instructed to report all unusual events. The information then was passed on to patrolmen and deputies.

CIVIL DEFENSE operators participating were Dan Grant, Paul Reed, Earl Boyer, William Temple, Ned Young, George Myers, Dick England and Ed Whaley.

Incidents reported by CD cars included a fire ignited in some debris by Halloweeners south of Ashville and the finding of a stuffed dummy hanging in a tree.

ROTC Signup Remains High At Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Making Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) enrollment at Ohio State University optional has had little effect on the size of the corps, the university reported today.

Spokesmen said that while total ROTC enrollment is down nine per cent from last fall, increased registration in advanced ROTC courses brought prospects that a number of graduates eligible for commissions would be higher this year.

Commissions in the three services are conferred after completion of advanced ROTC work. Two military departments reported over-all increases. These were in military science where enrollment is 2,671 as against 2,604 last fall and Naval ROTC with 337 enrolled compared with 287 last year. The air science department listed 2,388 students, down 21.4 per cent from last year's 3,037.

In all three departments 1961 grand total enrollment was 5,396 or 9 per cent below the 1960 enrollment of 5,928.

This year OSU began a plan in which students are required to take two years of ROTC or a rigid sequence of academic courses. About 80 per cent of incoming freshmen elected the military training.

Fallout Fears and Facts—

Unborn Generation To Be Victim Of Past Nuclear Bomb Explosions

EDITOR'S NOTE — What effect might today's fallout from Soviet bomb testing have on children yet unborn? Scientists aren't agreed on the extent of the danger, though most geneticists consider some harm likely. This is the second of three articles on fallout.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The greatest toll from the Soviet Union's monster 50-megaton H-bomb may be among tomorrow's children.

Its radioactive fallout might doom hundreds of future generations—to early death or physical or mental defects from hereditary damage.

Almost all geneticists assume that any increase in radiation could cause genetic damage to some people.

Most think the effect from present fallout—and that added now by the Soviets—will be a very slight fraction of one per cent increase over the number of children presently born with genetic defects. The increase could be so slight as not to be detectable.

But with 100 million children born in this world each year, even a slight increase in the rate of defective births could mean sizable numbers of damaged or still-born humans in 50 to 100 years or more.

Dr. Linus Pauling, famous California Institute of Technology chemist and a crusader against bomb testing, does estimate a number:

From a 50-megaton bomb alone, 40,000 infants born with physical or mental defects in the next few generations throughout the world, he says. And 400,000 more genetically injured during the next 6,000 years through radioactive carbon-14 created by such a bomb.

Other scientists disagree with his estimate, particularly that dealing with carbon-14.

The difficulty in any estimate is that some crucial facts are not known about human genes, produced in the sex glands, which determine the inherited characteristics that babies will have.

It is known that radiation can alter or mutate genes, and that most mutations are harmful.

It is not known if genes can resist tiny amounts of radiation, such as represented by fallout atoms which enter sex glands or genes.

All the evidence from experiments with animals, fruit flies, and single cells indicate there is no threshold or tolerable level.

Thus, geneticists assume any increase in radiation is potentially harmful.

One encouraging note, from mouse experiments, is that chronic exposure to a low dose of radiation (10 roentgens a day) given over a number of days produces fewer mutations than an equal total dose given all at once. Exposure of sex glands to fallout atoms can be chronic or long-lasting, and at an almost infinitesimally small dose.

Many experts assume that natural background radiation has always been causing some of the genetic mutations to which the human race is subject. Heat and chemicals are more powerful causes of genetic changes.

A National Academy of Sciences committee has estimated two billion children will be born in the world during the next 30 years, and that some four million of them would possess tangible genetic effects from natural or spontaneous causes.

Different authorities estimate 2 to 10 per cent of such genetic defects might be due to natural background radiation.

So, even a slight increase in radioactivity produced by bomb tests could increase this rate of genetic mutations. The experts all agree the increase would not be enough to cause any worry about the future of the human race by any means.

Various estimates can be made, as Dr. Pauling does, of the absolute numbers of persons who might be affected by the additional radiation from fallout. All such guesses start from the unknown as to what natural radiation actually is doing.

Dr. Pauling sees a sizable total number of future infants affected—out of many many billions who would be born in the next 6,000 years—from carbon-14 created by H-bombs.

The H-bomb reaction releases neutrons which can change nitrogen atoms in the air into carbon-14. Cosmic rays from space do the same thing, and create the natural carbon-14 which enters all living things on earth.

Dr. Pauling estimates a 50-megaton H-bomb would create enough carbon-14 to cause 40,000 deaths or defects from genetic changes in the next 6,000 years. Reason: carbon-14 can become part of the chemical material of genes, and damage genes by the rays it emits, or because it then changes back to nitrogen.

Other scientists hold Dr. Pauling has far over-estimated the amount of carbon-14 from bombs which would be available to affect humans.

And some say that through modern medicine and humanitarian treatment, we are keeping alive people ill or weak because of defective genes, and the fact they can have children may result in passing along more defective genes than would ever result from fallout radiation.

A consensus of the experts: bomb testing represents a definite but small hazard to human posterity.

Next: Fallout's bad actors.

Taft Daughter Leaves Estate of $7 Million

ROTC Signup Remains High At Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Making Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) enrollment at Ohio State University optional has had little effect on the size of the corps, the university reported today.

Spokesmen said that while total ROTC enrollment is down nine per cent from last fall, increased registration in advanced ROTC courses brought prospects that a number of graduates eligible for commissions would be higher this year.

Commissions in the three services are conferred after completion of advanced ROTC work. Two military departments reported over-all increases. These were in military science where enrollment is 2,671 as against 2,604 last fall and Naval ROTC with 337 enrolled compared with 287 last year. The air science department listed 2,388 students, down 21.4 per cent from last year's 3,037.

In all three departments, 1961 grand total enrollment was 5,396 or 9 per cent below the 1960 enrollment of 5,928.

This year OSU began a plan in which students are required to take two years of ROTC or a rigid sequence of academic courses. About 80 per cent of incoming freshmen elected the military training.

Fallout Fears and Facts—

Unborn Generation To Be Victim Of Past Nuclear Bomb Explosions

EDITOR'S NOTE—What effect might today's fallout from Soviet bomb testing have on children yet unborn? Scientists aren't agreed on the extent of the danger, though most geneticists consider some harm likely. This is the second of three articles on fallout.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The greatest toll from the Soviet Union's monster 50-megaton H-bomb may be among tomorrow's children.

Its radioactive fallout might doom hundreds of future generations—to early death or physical or mental defects from hereditary damage.

Almost all geneticists assume that any increase in radiation could cause genetic damage to some people.

Most think the effect from present fallout—and that added now by the Soviets—will be a very slight fraction of one per cent increase over the number of children presently born with genetic defects. The increase could be so slight as not to be detectable.

But with 100 million children born in this world each year, even a slight increase in the rate of defective births could mean sizable numbers of damaged or still-born humans in 50 to 100 years or more.

Dr. Linus Pauling, famous California Institute of Technology chemist and a crusader against bomb testing, does estimate a number:

From a 50-megaton bomb alone, 40,000 infants born with physical or mental defects in the next few generations throughout the world, he says. And 400,000 more genetically injured during the next 6,000 years through radioactive carbon-14 created by such a bomb.

Other scientists disagree with his estimate, particularly that dealing with carbon-14.

The difficulty in any estimate is that some crucial facts are not known about human genes, produced in the sex glands, which determine the inherited characteristics that babies will have.

It is known that radiation can alter or mutate genes, and that most mutations are harmful.

It is not known if genes can resist tiny amounts of radiation, such as represented by fallout atoms which enter sex glands or genes.

All the evidence from experiments with animals, fruit flies, and single cells indicate there is no threshold or tolerable level.

Death Penalty Study

New Zealand recently ended a drawn-out controversy over capital punishment when parliament abolished the death penalty for murder.

In recent years New Zealand's policy had been a model of how not to legislate. For 26 years, the nation's policy on capital punishment has shifted with the government in power.

When Labor was in, the death penalty was suspended. When the National Party was in, it was restored. Parliament's ban

TOKYO (AP)—Long-time American residents in Tokyo lump their newly arrived countrymen in one category—"the Fresh Eyes."

The assumption is that a newcomer from the United States, where much of the time, views things differently than Americans who've been here a while.

New arrivals are admonished: "You have fresh eyes. After you've been here longer you won't notice the difference."

The admonition could follow, for example, Fresh Eyes' amazement at being almost smothered in politeness by a shopkeeper and then narrowly missing being run down by a devil-may-care taxi driver the moment he steps out the door.

It's the contrasts—contrasts that seem to place this largest city in the world on the brink of schizophrenia—that startle Fresh Eyes.

There is the contrast of Eastern vs. Western cultures in Tokyo.

In this city, women delicately clad in beautiful kimonos jostle on the sidewalks with gum-chomping bobby soxers; the graceful geisha

New Zealand's criminal records since 1935 would be worth studying, and scholars from the rest of the world will probably comb them thoroughly to ascertain whether the homicide rate rose when Labor was in power, and whether it dropped when the National Party regained control.

The records could provide useful information about the effectiveness of capital punishment as a deterrent to crime.

Both British and American officials are reported impressed by the moderate tone taken by Jagan in recent months. But they admit this may be a tactic used deliberately to quiet fears until the British give up their last controls on the country next year.

All Jagan has to sell is nuisance value, and it is highly improbable that he will remain bought even if Washington turns out to be the highest bidder.

Tokyo gives the impression of desperately trying to select the best from both East and West and coming up with a mixture that can grate on the nerves of both Easterner and Westerner.

On a personal man-to-man basis, the Tokyoite showers Fresh Eyes with courtesies, bowing often and elaborately, sparing no effort to make him feel at home.

A foreigner fumbling with a Japanese-English dictionary and searching for a word draws not a condescending smile but a crowd—all pitching in with a word or two of English, trying to help.

But put a Tokyoite into an impersonal situation—behind a taxi's steering wheel in heavy traffic, or a furred, steel-tipped umbrella in a crowded subway—and watch out. It's the nimble and quick who survive.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

WRITERS ARE famous procrastinators, and seize on any kind of excuse to put off getting down to work. Novelist Graham Greene found a brand new way of procrastinating. A friend visited him at his English country estate and reported, "Every day Graham would disappear mysteriously for hours from the house. When I finally asked him what he was up to, he explained that he could not write another word until a certain combination of numbers—987—appeared to him by accident. He was spending hours by the roadside waiting for those numbers to pass on a license plate."

"Well, it's a poor country road, and there are not many motor cars. So Graham didn't write a single word for the entire week."

George Bernard Shaw was no lover of motion pictures. "Films bore me," he explained once, "because they show interminably people getting in and out of limousines, trains, and buses. I am not interested in how people get to different places, but what they do when they get there."

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

Q: Why do expectant mothers need extra vitamins and minerals?

A: Before Baby is born, one fertilized cell has to mushroom into millions. Never again will he grow so fast!

He needs vitamins and minerals so much, he'll rob Mom's supply if necessary. Prenatal vitamin and mineral capsules insure against any shortage.

Q: How does vitamin A help night blindness?

A: Vitamin A is part of a special light-sensitive chemical in the eye. Without this chemical you can't see dimly-lit objects; you need brilliant sunlight!

Ancient fishermen used to chew codfish or seagull livers to cure night blindness overnight!

Q: What plants contain vitamin A?

A: Practically none! But dark greens, orange carrots and yellowish vegetables are all chockful of yellowish carotene which your liver changes into vitamin A.

Because Jersey cows lack this ability, carotene pours out to color their milk rich golden yellow.

Q: Why do babies need extra vitamin drops?

A: Most newborns eat only milk and sugar formulas. Because ordinary milk lacks vitamins C and D, scurvy used to kill millions of babies, while rickets maimed millions more.

Vitamin C prevents scurvy; vitamin D protects against rickets. Other vitamins are sometimes included in baby drops, "just in case."

Q: Does vitamin E help varicose veins? How much should I take?

A: Filled with vitamin E, varicose veins merely bulge more. So far, no one can prove that humans need vitamin E. In vitamin pills it merely calms worry-warts!

Q: Are millet, brewer's yeast, honey, molasses and herbs all essential?

A: Not if your daily diet includes the Basic Four: (1) a pint of milk, (2) two servings of meat or other protein, (3) four servings of fruits (including one citrus) or vegetables (including one dark green or yellow) and (4) four servings of enriched bread or cereal.

Food fad suppliers seem to have pre-packaged foods or pills for every ailment. But often, while you pray for health, they prey on your pocketbook!

Degradation of Spirit

By George Sokolsky

What Khrushchev has been doing by his war of terror has been to frighten some persons in many countries so that they would be willing to accept whatever he has to offer except physical death. It is degradation of the spirit of man in the presence of terror.

C. R. Vann of Newark, Ohio, wants me to give the other fellow, meaning himself, his day in court, meaning this column. Why not? Mr. Vann has an opinion which he states clearly:

"You ought to know that Communism may yet turn out to be the best thing that ever happened to this old warlike, murderous planet. If it should, then I am going to be for it 100 per cent. Another thing, if such comes about thru peaceful means then I am for it again. You should know that certain groups, Pious and all but very untrustworthy such as the K.C.'s are at the bottom of most of this anti-commie propaganda. The outfit spews words about God and Patriotism but never a word about protecting our Constitution. Good reason too, they would destroy it because it separates Church and State which inadvertently has given them all the good things they attribute to God and his various assistants, The Saints."

Could Those 7 Hobgoblins Have Been Named 'Kennedy'?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Now there were these seven hobgoblins the kind that really work at their trade. By coincidence Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has seven children.

It turns out, too, that the Georgetown house where all the haunting took place is the address of Stephen Smith. Mrs. Smith is the former Jean Kennedy, sister of the attorney general and of President Kennedy.

Nobody was volunteering names for the record, but what answers could you get if you add up those facts and throw in the Kennedy family reputation for pranks?

Anyhow, the way neighbors told it, it went like this:

You're Telling Me!

By WILLIAM RITT
Central Press Writer

A brassiere manufacturer is coming out with a bra for sleep. It's for girls who want to wake up in better shape.

Sleeping with a bra on will help girls who have trouble getting up. Give them more snap.

The sleeping bra will be marketed for a reasonable figure. Otherwise, diet.

The theory of the sleeping bra is that any woman over 25 needs support. By then she should have a job.

The sleeping bra will come in black, white, pink and blue. Living colors, even at a time like that.

The sleeping bra is also for lounging. It's getting pretty technical when you have to change bras for a coffee break.

The ladies of ancient Carthage were a forerunner of the bra. Carthage got flattened.

Death Penalty Study

New Zealand recently ended a drawn-out controversy over capital punishment when parliament abolished the death penalty for murder.

In recent years New Zealand's policy had been a model of how not to legislate. For 26 years, the nation's policy on capital punishment has shifted with the government in power.

When Labor was in, the death penalty was suspended. When the National Party was in, it was restored. Parliament's ban

New Zealand's criminal records since 1935 would be worth studying, and scholars from the rest of the world will probably comb them thoroughly to ascertain whether the homicide rate rose when Labor was in power, and whether it dropped when the National Party regained control.

The records could provide useful information about the effectiveness of capital punishment as a deterrent to crime.

Nuisance Value

Dr. Cheddi B. Jagan, who has just been in Washington seeking "aid," is the new prime minister of British Guiana, a small South American state that is in the process of gaining its full independence from Britain.

Dr. Jagan is a graduate of Northwestern University and is married to a former citizen of the United States who is described as having converted him to left wing causes. He has a consistent background ideologically.

He first attained power in 1953 and began to organize a "people's police force," promote labor unrest and adopt familiar communist slogans. The British suspended the constitution, threw Jagan out of office and into jail. Jagan has declared his intention of nationalizing private property owned by foreigners.

Both British and American officials are reported impressed by the moderate tone taken by Jagan in recent months. But they admit this may be a tactic used deliberately to quiet fears until the British give up their last controls on the country next year.

All Jagan has to sell is nuisance value, and it is highly improbable that he will remain bought even if Washington turns out to be the highest bidder.

Frustrating, but Fascinating

By CONRAD FINK
(For Hal Boyle)

TOKYO (AP)—Long-time American residents in Tokyo lump their newly arrived countrymen in one category—"the Fresh Eyes."

The assumption is that a newcomer from the United States, where much of the plumbing works most of the time, views things differently than Americans who've been here a while.

New arrivals are admonished: "You have fresh eyes. After you've been here longer you won't notice the difference."

The admonition could follow, for example, Fresh Eyes' amazement at being almost smothered in politeness by a shopkeeper and then narrowly missing being run down by a devil-may-care taxi driver the moment he steps out the door.

It's the contrasts—contrasts that seem to place this largest city in the world on the brink of schizophrenia—that startle Fresh Eyes.

There is the contrast of Eastern vs. Western cultures in Tokyo.

In this city, women delicately clad in beautiful kimonos jostle on the sidewalks with gum-chomping bobby soxers; the graceful geisha competes in the entertainment world with the hip-swinging crooner bating out a hit tune from America; blazing neon lights atop ultramodern buildings cast an unearthly glow over the rickshaw man scurrying through the entertainment district to pick up a passenger.

Tokyo gives the impression of desperately trying to select the best from both East and West and coming up with a mixture that can grate on the nerves of both Easterner and Westerner.

On a personal man-to-man basis, the Tokyoite showers Fresh Eyes with courtesies, bowing often and elaborately, sparing no effort to make him feel at home.

A foreigner fumbling with a Japanese-English dictionary and searching for a word draws not a condescending smile, but a crowd—all pitching in with a word or two of English, trying to help.

But a Tokyoite into an impersonal situation—behind a taxi's steering wheel in heavy traffic, or a furred, steel-tipped umbrella in a crowded subway—and watch out. It's the nimble and quick who survive.

However, it's the contrast between Tokyo and Fresh Eyes' old world—New York or Chicago, for instance—that is most startling.

Ever have a hotel bellhop run out into the rain to pick up your bags, bow, smile, murmur "Good evening" and then refuse a tip? It happens in Tokyo all the time.

Trying to rent a house is a problem in most large cities of the world but in Tokyo the pitfalls in those delightful little Japanese homes are hidden. The problem of water pressure, for instance.

Armed with lots of advice, Fresh Eyes carefully tests the pressure in the bathroom and kitchen before closing the deal with Mama-San, the landlady.

Plenty of water. The next morning he climbs into the shower, soaps up—and no water. At least half the almost 10 million persons in Tokyo's metropolitan area suddenly have taken a drink of water and when that happens faucets emit vague rumblings but little water.

As one long-time resident put it, "Tokyo is frustrating—but fascinating."

However, it's the contrast between Tokyo and Fresh Eyes' old world—New York or Chicago, for instance—that is most startling.

Ever have a hotel bellhop run out into the rain to pick up your bags, bow, smile, murmur "Good evening" and then refuse a tip? It happens in Tokyo all the time.

Trying to rent a house is a problem in most large cities of the world but in Tokyo the pitfalls in those delightful little Japanese homes are hidden. The problem of water pressure, for instance.

Armed with lots of advice, Fresh Eyes carefully tests the pressure in the bathroom and kitchen before closing the deal with Mama-San, the landlady.

Plenty of water. The next morning he climbs into the shower, soaps up—and no water. At least half the almost 10 million persons in Tokyo's metropolitan area suddenly have taken a drink of water and when that happens faucets emit vague rumblings but little water.

As one long-time resident put it, "Tokyo is frustrating—but fascinating."

Could Those 7 Hobgoblins Have Been Named 'Kennedy'?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Now there were these seven hobgoblins the kind that really work at their trade. By coincidence Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has seven children.

It turns out, too, that the Georgetown house where all the haunting took place is the address of Stephen Smith. Mrs. Smith is the former Jean Kennedy, sister of the attorney general and of President Kennedy.

Nobody was volunteering names for the record, but what answers do you get if you add up those facts and throw in the Kennedy family reputation for pranks?

Anyhow, the way neighbors told it, it went like this:

Buying Power Of U.S. Farmer Dips a Little

WASHINGTON (AP) — This harvest season finds the buying power of farm products a little weaker than a year ago.

The Agriculture Department reports that prices received by farmers in mid-October were nearly one-half of 1 per cent lower.

On the other hand, the prices paid by farmers for goods and services used in production and family living, taxes and wages, were 1.7 per cent higher than a year ago.

October brought a downturn from September in prices of most fruits, hogs, lettuce and potatoes. Partially offsetting these declines were increases for milk, cotton and eggs.

Farm prices as a whole averaged 80 per cent of the parity price goal of federal farm programs; in October last year they averaged 81 per cent.

Farm products whose prices dropped since October last year included hogs, lambs, chickens, turkeys, eggs, potatoes, dry peas, apples, pears, strawberries, grapefruit, lemons and oranges. Grains ran higher than a year ago as did cotton, oilseed crops, dry beans and beef cattle.

As was the case a year ago, no farm product brought prices close to full parity in mid-October this year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Feed Manufacturers Association predicts a moderate increase in 1962 livestock production.

A feed survey committee expects this year's fall big crop to reach about 42.5 million head, up 3 per cent from the 1960 fall crop. It estimates that the 1962 spring pig crop will be about 52,568,000 head, an increase of 4 per cent over this year's spring crop.

The committee also figures that the number of laying hens will increase 2 per cent next year. It predicts that broiler production will increase 1 per cent despite low prices this year. A 5 per cent reduction in turkeys next year is forecast, reflecting this year's low prices.

The committee expects little change in the number of dairy cows but a 2 per cent upturn in beef cattle is forecast. A 3 per cent decline in sheep and lambs is foreseen.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proposals for international food distribution programs will be a major topic at the conference of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) in Rome Nov. 4-23.

The Washington office of the FAO said conference discussions are "expected to center around ways in which agricultural surpluses in some countries would be used to alleviate want and stimulate economic development in others."

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Foreign Agricultural Service reported today Europe expects a 5 per cent larger hog production and slaughter in 1962 than this year. Such an increase, the service said, probably would hurt U.S. exports to that area, particularly to the United Kingdom.

Nigeria's First Lady Says Native Women Unoppressed

NEW YORK (AP) — If you've been worrying about the women of Africa being downtrodden, you can probably forget it as far as Western Nigeria is concerned.

"The well-to-do people of Nigeria are the women," says the first lady, Emily Akintola, here on an unofficial visit with her husband.

"Nigerian women have all the money," she goes on in good English, using a phrase that has a familiar ring in this country.

"Men give us the freedom to do what we want. They never mind it if we're in business."

The tall, dignified wife of Chief Samuel Ladoke Akintola, premier of the western region of Africa's largest Negro nation, is one of her country's successful businesswomen. She imports cement and other materials from Germany, keeps a knowing eye on the New York and London stock exchanges.

She's been a trader since she was 13. Her father, chief of the forest rangers, gave her the first money to set up a little shop to sell hats and materials in front of her home in Lagos. She attended a Baptist girls' school run by Americans.

Buying and selling of goods has been the traditional role of women throughout West Africa, and Mrs. Akintola inherited a sharp trader's sense from her mother. She shakes her head over her two daughters, aged 20 and 25, the oldest of her five children. The elder girl is married, the younger is studying medicine in Dublin, and neither has the slightest interest in trading.

She thinks women are better at business than men, and that they should help out with the family income if their work doesn't disrupt home life.

Friendship Club Meets

Members of the Young Friendship Club gathered for an October meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Everman.

Isabelle Phillips, president, conducted the business session. Dick Everman conducted the devotional period by reading selections from the Sermon on the Mount.

Thank-You notes were read from Mr. and Mrs. Bob Houston and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Phillips.

The club completed plans for a Nov. 21st bake sale and a toy party on Nov. 13 in the basement of Five Points Methodist Church.

The group will meet Saturday, Nov. 25, to erect a Christmas Nativity scene in front of the church. Following the meeting, seasonal refreshments were served by the host and hostess.

Those attending included Mr. and Mrs. Richard Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Elmoyn Plotts, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Redman and Ricky, Mr. and Mrs. Art Dick, Mrs. Paul Up- perman and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Everman, Tish and Ted.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

So Who's Nuts?

DEAR ABBY: I came home from a football game and put my binoculars on the table. Just for the fun of it I picked them up and started looking out the window at the apartment building across the way. Into focus came another man, looking directly at ME through a pair of binoculars! My heart almost stopped beating. Now I am wondering what kind of a nut lives so near to me.

Should I call the police?

DEAR MORT: Why not give him the benefit of the doubt? He may be as normal as you. Strange how, when the speck is on one's mark—but on someone else's, it's a mole.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's firm, promoted him, and moved us to another city 400 miles from our former home. We have one child, Karl, who is 14. Karl was very unhappy over the move because he had to leave all his friends.

We live in a beautiful home in a fine neighborhood where there are many boys and girls Karl's age, but Karl shows no interest in making friends. He sits around the house and sulks, and looks downhearted and miserable. He used to be such a happy boy. Did we make a mistake to move? If Karl is going to be miserable it will not have been worth it. Any suggestions?

KARL'S MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Pretend not to notice Karl's sulking, and he will stop trying to punish you (that's what he's doing, you know) for disrupting his social pattern. He will meet plenty of potential friends at school. If this is the biggest adjustment Karl will ever have to make in his lifetime, he'll be lucky.

DEAR ABBY: You hear so many older people say how terrible the teen-agers of today dress, make up their faces and do their hair. My mother told me herself that twenty years ago she used to put RATS in her hair to make her pompadour stand up higher than anybody else's. Now, can you top that?

LINDA
DEAR LINDA: The "rats" your mother used to puff up her pompadour were made of synthetic hair. They were not real rats. But the goldfish the college boys of that era used to swallow—just to be cute—were very real indeed. And alive!

State Fair
Loss Marked
Off as 'Ad'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Agriculture Director Robert H. Terhune doesn't think $38,000 is 'too much' to pay for advertising the state of Ohio.

"It was a pretty good show and some 600,000 persons did see it," he said of the last Ohio State Fair which ended up $37,906 in the red. Terhune's report yesterday to state Auditor James A. Rhodes showed receipts and accounts receivable at $754,413.73 with expenses and debts at $792,320.51.

"We made every effort to economize," he said, "but we couldn't cut down on cash premiums which were about $368,000. We get an appropriation of $60,000 for the speed (racing) program, but the other premiums come out of the fair receipts. That's a pretty heavy burden on an eight-day exposition."

He explained that the fair gave out about 5,000 free tickets a day to school children and such and also gave free exhibit space to departments and agencies of the state. "That was about $46,000 worth of space," he said. "Yet we had to pay the Department of Highway Safety for men from the highway patrol."

This is the second consecutive year the fair, called the largest livestock exposition in the world, has lost money. Last year the loss was almost $80,000.

"If we can cut down on premiums," Terhune continued, "or get an appropriation for them, we possibly could lower the gate prices or even have a free fair."

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said today he is planning to name a 15-member commission soon which would replace Terhune's Division of Ohio State Fair.

Third of Ohio Voters Expected To Stay Home

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An estimate that not more than two out of every three qualified Ohio voters will go to the polls next Tuesday was made today by Dr. John B. Mitchell, Ohio State University rural sociologist.

He said past voting records show that in the last five years only once did more than 70 per cent of Ohio's eligible voters cast ballots. That was last year when they were choosing a president. Then there were 5,839,311 eligible voters of whom 4,208,811, or 72 per cent, cast ballots.

State Fair Loss Marked Off as 'Ad'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Agriculture Director Robert H. Terhune doesn't think $38,000 is too much to pay for advertising the state of Ohio.

"It was a pretty good show and some 600,000 persons did see it," he said of the last Ohio State Fair which ended up $37,906 in the red. Terhune's report yesterday to state Auditor James A. Rhodes showed receipts and accounts receivable at $754,413.73 with expenses and debts at $792,320.51.

"We made every effort to economize," he said, "but we couldn't cut down on cash premiums which were about $368,000. We get an appropriation of $60,000 for the speed (racing) program, but the other premiums come out of the fair receipts. That's a pretty heavy burden on an eight-day exposition."

He explained that the fair gave out about 5,000 free tickets a day to school children and such and also gave free exhibit space to departments and agencies of the state. "That was about $46,000 worth of space," he said. "Yet we had to pay the Department of Highway Safety for men from the highway patrol."

This is the second consecutive year the fair, called the largest livestock exposition in the world, has lost money. Last year the loss was almost $80,000.

"If we can cut down on premiums," Terhune continued, "or get an appropriation for them, we possibly could lower the gate prices or even have a free fair."

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said today he is planning to name a 15-member commission soon which would replace Terhune's Division of Ohio State Fair.

NUCLEAR ROCKET — This sketch shows the upper stage of a proposed nuclear rocket at Lockheed in Sunnyvale, Calif. Arrow points to comparative figure of a man. The upper stage alone would be more than 100 feet high, and most of it would be a giant hydrogen tank, with payload of instruments and men at top, and a small nuclear engine at bottom. Huge chemical boosters would get it on its way, then drop off.

Rain will be scattered over the state today, accompanied by mild, windy weather. Afternoon temperatures will be mostly in the 60s.

Steel Tycoon Sees Climb For Industry

NEW YORK (AP) — The head of the nation's largest steel firm sees a slow and steady climb ahead for his industry and the nation's economy into the spring of 1962.

Even so, Roger M. Blough, chairman of United States Steel Corp., was cagey about any specific forecasts—except that the January - March steel output next year will top any quarter of 1961.

And Blough foresaw a moderate and gradual improvement in steel prospects for November and December over mediocre results for the past few months. Signs of it could become clear any day now, he said.

Blough, a top echelon figure in the private sector of the economy, was questioned by newsmen Tuesday about the disappointing third quarter showing of U.S. steel.

"Big steel" disclosed Tuesday that sales, shipment and profits all declined during that period, a time when most steelmakers registered gains.

Blough, whose company in the first nine months earned only four cents more than enough to cover the regular 75-cents a quarter common stock dividend, said profits were far too low.

But he said market and competitive conditions were such now as to afford no immediate prospect of a steel price rise.

Cussins & Fearn Opens New Toy, Gift Center on Main St.

The Cussins & Fearn Co. new toy and gift center at 129 W. Main St. was opened today.

According to officials, the company currently will operate two stores in Circleville. Walter Cochran, vice president in charge of leases for Cussins & Fearn, said the present operation at 122 N. Court St. will not be moved to the W. Main St. location until January.

Cochran said in view of the need for space for Christmas stock, the company has decided to utilize the new store as a complete toy and gift center until January.

The W. Main St. location is the site of the former Grant store here. Cochran said remodeling work and the building of a large new section in the rear of the store room has progressed rapidly.

THE old store on N. Court will be used for regular merchandise until the move is made in January.

Jim Cundiff, manager of the store here, said truckloads of new toys and gifts have been arriving daily in preparation for Christmas. He invited local and area residents to visit the new gift center.

10th District To Get Data On Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal survey aimed at "improving the economic climate and employment potential" of every community in Ohio's 10th Congressional District will be conducted next week, Rep. Walter H. Moeller, D-Ohio, announced today.

Moeller said the four-day survey, by the Small Business Administration, is to determine the present and future economic potential of each community in the eight-county district.

The survey, Moeller said, will include "analyzing the major problems of existing businesses, exploring the possibility of developing additional industry, and aiding businessmen on specific small business technical and financial problems."

All but one of the counties in the district have been designated redevelopment areas by the Commerce Department. The designation makes them eligible for various kinds of federal economic assistance.

Moeller said the survey, Nov. 6-9, is one of a series of programs he is sponsoring "in an effort to stimulate the economy of Southeastern Ohio and provide more jobs for the many unemployed citizens of the area."

He said SBA specialists from Washington and Cleveland will make the survey. They will tour Fairfield and Hocking counties Nov. 6; Athens and Vinton Nov. 7; Meigs and Gallia Nov. 8; Jackson and Lawrence Nov. 9.

Prankster Is Held in Fatal Shooting

GREENUP, Ky. (AP)—A 28-year-old auto mechanic, who told police he fired a pistol in the air to scare some Halloween pranksters, has been charged with murder in the death of Douglas Bowling, 18, of Rt. 2, Greenup.

Kentucky State Police said Bowling was fatally shot Tuesday night along Ky. 2 at Shells Creek, six miles south of Greenup. Arrested was Curtis Lee Stephens of Kehoe.

Troopers gave this account: Bowling was with a group of five or six youths out Halloweening. Stephens, driving along the highway, stopped his car after the youths had thrown some corn on it. Stephens told authorities he fired his 22 caliber pistol nine times in the air to scare the youths.

Bowling told his friends, "I've been shot." Then fell down. His friends at first thought he was kidding. A 22 caliber bullet had penetrated the youth's left side.

They were the heirs of an uncle, Steve Vican, who died in 1958 at the age of 77 and left an estate of $25,000. Some of the money went to relatives in this country.

Only 2.6 Million Ohioans Expected at Polls Tuesday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown estimated today that only 2,618,100 Ohioans will vote in next Tuesday's election.

"In spite of the fact that our registration rolls in Ohio reached a new high in 1960 and that the 1961 registration was satisfactory, it cannot foresee an extraordinarily heavy vote on Nov. 7," Brown said.

The total vote predicted by the state's chief election official was 130,416 higher than the number voting in 1959, the last previous odd-year election, when 2,487,684 marked ballots.

Ohio's total vote in the 1960 presidential election year was 4,208,811.

"There are many places where local races and local issues are very heated which will swell the total this year," Brown said.

"But there is no concerted effort for or against the four proposed constitutional amendments which would increase the ballot as has so often been the case in some years when more controversial statewide issues were on the ballot."

The four constitutional changes proposed would:

Require that a state Senate vacancy be filled by a member of the same political party as the former senator.

Give the legislature emergency authority to provide for continuity of state and local governments in event of enemy attack.

Increase the present 18-45 age limits for enrolling Ohioans in the militia to 17-67.

Give the state Senate power to advise and consent to major appointments by the governor.

Most of the voting will be for local officials and on local issues, although nine members of the state school board will be named in as many congressional districts.

Brown called on Ohioans to vote for these reasons:

"1. The election affects local government when important township, municipal and board of education posts are filled. These men and women administer important local government services so very close to us and to the welfare of our families.

"2. In these days when we have a concerted campaign for a revitalization of our interest and understanding of a demonstration of our faith in our American form of government, the ballot box offers a clear demonstration of one of the basic freedoms we should most fully appreciate."

Stark County Vice Probe's Effect Wide

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy said today the Stark County investigation of vice and crime assisted state officials in deterring gambling racketeering throughout the state.

In a letter to Canton Mayor Charles L. Babcock, McElroy said:

"As a result of the investigation in Stark County, an atmosphere against gambling racketeering was created in other areas of Ohio."

"We learned... that with misdemeanor penalties, law enforcement officials could, and would probably, spend the rest of their lives arresting the same gambling racketeers time and time again.

"The only deterrent to gambling racketeers was imprisonment—misdemeanor fines were merely 'paying their dues.' Thus were born the new 'tough' anti-gambling racketeering laws, now in effect in Ohio."

The strict laws, the attorney general said, have brought gambling in Ohio to an all time low.

"Other neighboring states have been flooded by an influx of former Ohio gambling racketeers, and movements are on foot in these states to pass laws similar to those initiated in Ohio," McElroy declared.

Bare Shoulder Highlighted in New Fashions

NEW YORK (AP) — Because American women have enough on their shoulders these days, designer Ceil Chapman apparently decided that the least she could do was take off their shoulder straps.

As a result, willowy, lamp-tanned models strutted before the fashion press today in spring dresses with little more to hold them up than a deep breath.

Miss Chapman's breezy, naked-shoulder idea followed through a series of softly feminine dresses to be worn both under the sun and moon.

But knowing full well you can't ever count on weather to cooperate with fashion, Miss Chapman provided some ruffy cape and coat type coverings which she calls "shelter jackets." Although these may halt a breeze, they are too diaphanous to halt the nude look.

Some of Miss Chapman's costumes for spring have the personalities of a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. One, done in black crepe, is decorous enough for a Sunday School picnic with the jacket on. Without it the bare-shouldered dress is the uniform of a night club siren.

A favorite couturiere of Hollywood and TV stars whose business it is to have an abundance of sex appeal, Miss Chapman always did her best to dramatize the feminine figure.

Last year she accomplished this by draping and shaping chiffons in the Grecian manner until women were floating, fluttering goddesses.

This year she is wrapping the figure of a woman the Egyptian way, nipping and tucking her favorite fabric (chiffon) horizontally and diagonally from hem to neck—or as close to the neck as her dresses get.

Blind Ex-Judge Given State Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has appointed Roy J. Gillen, former Wellston mayor to the Blind Commission for a term ending Oct. 31, 1967.

Gillen is blind. He became Wellston city solicitor in 1920 and later served two terms as mayor. He served four terms as state senator and in 1932 was elected common pleas judge of Jackson County. In 1936, he became an appellate court judge and served four terms, retiring last Feb. 8.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Neutral Finland looks remote from Berlin but probably isn't. And any link between Finland and the cold war, almost invisible now, may in the hands of Premier Khrushchev turn out to be very real.

He astonished everybody, particularly the Western Allies, by what looked like a generous gesture last Oct. 17 when he announced he would withdraw his deadline for settling the Berlin dispute by year's end.

Generosity was perhaps the last thing he had in mind. He was doing extremely well—in creating dissension among the Allies on how to deal with him on Berlin—and, with a little more time, he might do even better.

Far more important to him than Berlin, 110 miles inside Communist East Germany, is the hope that by prodding and experimenting with their individual interests he can weaken the Allies' trust in one another and so shatter NATO.

The best that can be said for the way the Allies, and that includes the United States, jointly have met Khrushchev's challenge on Berlin is that they have been hesitant and indecisive. History may conclude the West was simply weak and leaderless.

The Allies, for example, after months of sparring with Khrushchev and conferring among themselves on Berlin are still not agreed on what to yield, or whether to yield, or what to demand.

Their very indecisiveness may explain some of the things he has done since last spring when he first demanded they get out of Berlin. Bit by bit, as the Allies wobbled and floundered, he got a little bolder, pushed a little harder.

For example: The Communists walked off East Berlin.

The Allies, who had been insisting Khrushchev must let Communist East Germany unify with West Germany, did nothing when Khrushchev, who kept the two Germanies separated, now sealed off East Berlin.

This weakened any thought they might have had about demanding he permit German unification. Having gotten away with this, Khrushchev then let the East German police harass Allied personnel who wanted to go into East Berlin.

Even his explosion of the 50-megaton bomb, in defiance of world opinion, may have been done strictly to impress the Allies not only with his power but his determination to have his way.

So Khrushchev was losing nothing by postponing the Berlin deadline. Then on Oct. 30 he injected a brand new twist into his cold war with the West.

He asked Russia's little neighbor, Finland, to consult on measures for insuring defense of the two countries against what the Russians described as the threat of a military attack by West Germany and its allies.

But he hardly needs Finland as a military base, and certainly not as a missile base. He has many times boasted of Russia's missile strength—good enough to span an ocean—and warned the Allies in

Ohio Corn Harvest Hits All-Time High

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ohio corn growers are harvesting an all-time high yield estimated at 72 bushels per acre, says Ferris S. Owen of Newark, former president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

But, Owen adds, some of the state's most profitable corn fields are those not planted under the government's new feed program.

Ferris said Ohio farmers will receive about $50 million for not growing corn this year, and they call their land retired from production "Freeman's acres, a reference to Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

Europe they'd be flattened fast if war came.

What then the reason for his Finnish move? With the Allies confused on what to do about Berlin, this may have been one more bit of pressure to make them meet his terms, or he may have been thinking in much broader terms than just Berlin. It gives him a chance—since he denounced the rearming of West Germany—to demand some trading in return for letting Finland alone. For example: By demanding that the Allies keep West Germany disarmed.

If by such a move he could even get the Allies seriously to consider such a thing, it would not only weaken their reliance on one another but drive the first big crack into the NATO wall. One big crack might be enough to wreck it.

Khrushchev may have had other things in mind, such as using Finland as a trading point to persuade the United States to abandon some of its own bases in countries scattered around the entire perimeter of the Communist world.

Those bases, either fully used or just available in emergency, are a menacing deterrent to any aggressive moves by Russia. But also where there are American military bases or tie-ups in nations close to Russia, this country pours in a lot of money.

That money helps perpetuate the regimes in power, including reactionary ones. By so doing it makes subversion or revolution tough if not impossible. If Khrushchev could get rid of some of those bases and tie-ups, local Communists would have a better chance of taking over some day.

Thus by subversion Khrushchev might accomplish what he didn't dare try by direct assault.

Bare Shoulder Highlighted in New Fashions

NEW YORK (AP) — Because American women have enough on their shoulders these days, designer Ceil Chapman apparently decided that the least she could do was take off their shoulder straps.

As a result, willowy, lamp-tanned models strutted before the fashion press today in holding dresses with little more to hold them up than a deep breath.

Miss Chapman's breezy, naked-shoulder idea followed through a series of softly feminine dresses to be worn both under the sun and moon.

But knowing full well you can't ever count on weather to cooperate with fashion, Miss Chapman provided some ruffled cape and coat type coverings which she calls "shelter jackets." Although these may halt a breeze, they are too diaphanous to halt the nude look.

Some of Miss Chapman's costumes for spring have the personalities of a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. One, done in black crepe, is decorous enough for a Sunday School picnic with the jacket on. Without it the bare-shouldered dress is the uniform of a night club siren.

A favorite couturiere of Hollywood and TV stars whose business it is to have an abundance of sex appeal, Miss Chapman always did do her best to dramatize the feminine figure.

Last year she accomplished this by draping and shaping chiffons in the Grecian manner until women were floating, fluttering goddesses.

This year she is wrapping the figure of a woman the Egyptian way, nipping and tucking her favorite fabric (chiffon) horizontally and diagonally from hem to neck—or as close to the neck as her dresses get.

Blind Ex-Judge Given State Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has appointed Roy J. Gillen, former Wellston mayor to the Blind Commission for a term ending Oct. 31, 1967.

The appointment filled a post created when the legislature increased the commission to seven members.

Gillen is blind. He became Wellston city solicitor in 1920 and later served two terms as mayor. He served four terms as state senator and in 1932 was elected common pleas judge of Jackson County. In 1936, he became an appellate court judge and served four terms, retiring last Feb. 8.

Mr. Martin will join his wife for the second week's visit. They will also visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raney Martin of Greentown.

Mrs. Etta Lowery has been a patient in Logan Hospital for medical treatment.

A son was born on Oct. 22 to Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Roll (Joretta Tatman) of Chillicothe. Grandparents are Mrs. Loie Tatman of Laurelville and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Roll of near Chillicothe.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Neutral Finland looks remote from Berlin but probably isn't. And any link between Finland and the cold war, almost invisible now, may in the hands of Premier Khrushchev turn out to be very real.

He astonished everybody, particularly the Western Allies, by what looked like a generous gesture last Oct. 17 when he announced he would withdraw his deadline for settling the Berlin dispute by year's end.

Generosity was perhaps the last thing he had in mind. He was doing extremely well—in creating dissension among the Allies on how to deal with him on Berlin—and with a little more time, he might do even better.

Logan Elm, 3 Other Schools Band Together in New SVC

By RON COFFMAN
The quest of four Ohio high schools for a football league in which they would not be pitted against overpowering larger and more experienced teams ended today with the announcement that the new Scioto Valley Conference has been successfully organized.

Designed to begin operations as an all-football loop in the fall of 1962, the SVC will eventually be expanded to include competition among members in all scholastic sports.

Charter schools in the new league are Logan Elm, Paint Valley, Laurelville and Piketon. Of the quartet only Piketon has had previous league affiliation. The Pike County squad has taken its bruises with regularity in two years of Southern Ohio Conference play, going against much larger outfits from the Portsmouth area.

The idea for the new circuit was conceived by John Henn, Logan Elm principal, and Paint Valley head coach Dan Klips while the two were classmates during summer school at Ohio University, Athens. Letters of inquiry were sent to other schools and three meetings among representatives of the four institutions interested since mid-September led to today's announcement.

HENN pointed out Logan Elm, Paint Valley and Laurelville have been playing independent schedules. Since most Ohio schools now hold membership in some organized league, the independents were left little selection in their opponents or dates of games. Many times the non-league schools have been forced to go far out of their size and ability range to locate a match.

The new league, composed of schools similar in size and playing potential, is expected to correct most of these faults.

The formal organizational banquet to launch the circuit will be held at 8 p. m. Nov. 16 at Tink's Tavern north of Circleville. Boards of education of the member schools are expected to give final approval to the organization before that date.

At the dinner-meeting David D. Way, assistant executive school head from Piketon, will be installed as the first president of the Scioto Valley Conference. Serving with him are Henn, vice president, and Klips, secretary-treasurer.

The league constitution, drawn up by the executive committee and Clyde Chilcote of Laurelville, will be offered for acceptance at that time.

Regular meetings of the executive committee are slated in August, October, February and May of each year. The first time the schools meet as members of the same league will be next spring in a night track meet at Piketon.

HENN explained the meet was designed to "acquaint the schools with each other as playing opponents." He added, "We have very high hopes the Scioto Valley Conference will afford a league in which schools of the same size can meet each other under championship conditions."

The first SVC football schedule will be announced during the Nov. 16 session.

On a paper comparison, Logan Elm's Braves go into the new league the strongest member. The Tribe pulled down a half-dozen victories in 1961, while losing only twice. However, graduation and new players could alter this situation by the time next fall rolls around.

2 More 11s Eyed For Aviation Bowl

SPORTS

The Circleville Herald, Thur. November 2, 1961 11
Circleville, Ohio

'This Game Is It', Says Tiger Coach

"This one is it. We're as prepared as we can possibly be, and our spirit is excellent. I think we can win it." Thus said Circleville High School head football coach Carl Benhase today.

Benny, a seasoned grid mentor with a knack of obtaining maximum results from his players, was talking about tomorrow night's game pitting his battle-ready Tigers against Franklin Heights on the Falcons home field.

"We are not thinking about anything further in the future than the game with Heights," Benhase added. For the Tigers — owners of a 7-1 season slate and a 4-1 record in the South Central Ohio League campaign — this is sound logic. To stay in contention for the championship Circleville must win tomorrow. A defeat at the hands of the Falcons would mean the locals could do no better than tie for the top spot, and probably not do that.

Benhase, with a gift for putting a situation in a calm light, commented, "We know we will be up against a fine ball club, but if you compare league scores you find they aren't really unbeatable." The Falcons lost one in the circuit, to Wilmington Oct. 20 by a 14-12 count. They dropped Greenfield 44-28 last week, but were forced to press the first unit into full-game service to gain the decision. Circleville tamed McClain 21-8 Oct. 20.

BOTH CLUBS are among the four outfits deadlocked for top position in the SCOL. "We have no place to go but up there (Heights) to win," Benhase said.

Spearheading the Falcons' attack will be Robin Pendleton, a 190 pound fullback noted as a powerful runner in any direction. The Franklin Heights' team utilizes an Iowa-type offense featuring a heavy emphasis on trapping the defense.

Combined with the running offense is an effective pass-to-the-flat style of aerial play the Tigers have not encountered in previous tilts this year.

On offense Circleville will probably attempt to throw more, since Heights is not known for its pass defense. Dave Hannahs, Tiger starting quarterback, is the man of the moment if the aerial attack is used.

The Bengals will have the full backing of an enthusiastic group of student and adult followers when they begin their trek Columbus-ward tomorrow. Two student pep rallies are on tap, one in front of the school on S. Court St. before morning classes and another day in the gymnasium. Signs strewn throughout CHS remind fans to "Boost the Tigers", and "Beat Heights".

Another rally, this one of the sendoff variety, is scheduled at the gymnasium about 5 p. m. when the team boards its buses to go searching for a league crown.

Laker '5' Shows Pro League Power

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The way the Los Angeles Lakers are going they may very well win the Western Division championship of the National Basketball Association this year.

With Elgin Baylor and Jerry West combining for a total of 71 points the Lakers won their fifth straight Wednesday night, 120-115 over Cincinnati. In the other NBA game of the night the Detroit Pistons won their first game of the season, 111-95 over New York.

Baylor threw in 15 field goals and 11 free throws for his 41 points. He now has 239 points in seven games, second only to Wilt Chamberlain's league-leading total of 256.

Toledo Sohio Aides End 2-Day Walkout

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The return of 125 employees to Standard Oil Co. Toledo sales division Wednesday ended a two-day strike. The striking employees, members of the Independent Oil Workers Organization, accepted a nine-cent hourly pay increase for truck drivers, mechanics and warehousemen.

The newcomers, announced today by Dr. David Reese, selection committee chairman, are Virginia Tech and The Citadel.

Already on the list of teams from which an opponent for the host Mid-American Conference champion will be selected are Rutgers, Wyoming, Detroit, Colgate, Villanova, Utah State, Wichita, Utah and Florida State.

Lesson in Logic Learned, Swami Calls SCOL Grid Results

By BUSTER BENGAL
(Herald SCOL Guesspert)
The Swami of the Scioto learned a lesson in football logic last Friday night — it is possible to argue with success.

Washington C. H. provided proof positive of this theory, blitzing Wilmington's bid for an unblemished season by a decisive 22-12 count in the upset for the year for the often-unsettled South Central Ohio League.

The stunning Blue Lion victory, coming just as everyone was about to write off the circuit pennant chase for another year, opened the doors for a statisticians' field day all over SCOL land. And "if" is the biggest word in at least a quarter of scattered loop grid camps this week.

Four teams in the eight-school league hold a share of first place with 4-1 records. There are two weekends of SCOL play remaining and, as things stand now, the championship may well be the first in years to go all the way down to the wire.

CIRCLEVILLE, Wilmington, Franklin Heights and Washington C. H. are bunched like bananas around the top spot. Clashes among the four will trim the cluster decidedly by the Nov. 10 closing date.

For the local Tigers, sole possession of the frontrunner's post after Friday's matches rests on a three-fold set of question marks: Circleville must defeat Franklin Heights, a king-size calling in anybody's book; Greenfield must upend Washington C. H. and listless Hillsboro would have to arise from the doldrums to drop Wilmington.

Should the Tigers lose, the best they could hope for would be a co-champ crown shared with as many as three other outfits.

In the fourth weekend of loop jousting the Swami saluted smoothly save for one jarring bump, and he confessed he's "just not sorry" about that.

The spoiler of Wilmington's success — WCH — also splintered the oracle's perfect prediction packet. It simply proves Hurricane quarterback Dwight Wallace doesn't own exclusive rights on all the downfield territory in the league.

Circleville performed as billed, turning back Miami Trace 28-12 after a rugged first half. Franklin Heights left little room for doubt about being a flag finalist, clobbering stumbling Greenfield 44-28.

PLEASANT VIEW was consigned to another year in the dank and dusty league cellar by Hillsboro on a 20-8 verdict.

The standings now show Greenfield holding down the slot behind the four leaders despite a loss. McClain had carded a 2-3 mark. Miami Trace follows, deadlocked with Hillsboro on 1-4 tallies. Looking downward Pleasant View is found at the bottom of the pile, coasting toward oblivion on an 0-5 ledger.

Swirling his tea leaves the Swami — who holds a .687 correct-call card for naming 11 of 16 winners in four rounds of SCOL scrap-

ping — put forth this slate of selections for Friday tilts:

Circleville over Franklin Heights — Said with a prayer. The Falcons flash a sometimes brilliant brand of ball and coach Chuck Gilbert will have them at peak playing pitch for the bout. Circleville must travel to Columbus as the underdog, but underdogs have a habit of biting in the SCOL. Look for either a thrillingly tight tilt or a total runaway. It won't be in-between.

Wilmington over Hillsboro — By a landslide. The Hurricane will blow around on its home grounds, and is far from being a demoralized team. No matter how its viewed, the Indians will be "ambushed at the pass" — the pass produced so effectively by Wallace. Washington C. H. over Greenfield — McClain has lost its last three league starts and there is nothing to indicate they have the material or the know-how to reverse the trend. The Lions are out for a slice of the crown. The better battle will probably be after the game, if things go as they have in past years.

MIAMI TRACE over Pleasant View — Two sets of Panthers collide with PV picked to pull its tail home between its legs.

Renfro Sets Pace As Pass Catcher

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ray Renfro, who says he enjoys playing professional football more every season, will go against the Pittsburgh Steelers at Cleveland Stadium Sunday afternoon as the Cleveland Browns' top pass catcher.

The 10-year-veteran has caught 26 passes for 416 yards—an average of 16 yards a catch. He is two catches above his total of last season and has scored three touchdowns—one under his 1960 pace—despite injuries that have hampered him in almost every game.

Bothered by a knee ailment last season, the 188-pound Texan underwent an operation during the off season and bounced back like a rookie this year.

Logan Elm, 3 Other Schools Band Together in New SVC

By RON COFFMAN
The quest of four Ohio high schools for a football league in which they would not be pitted against overpowering larger and more experienced teams ended today with the announcement that the new Scioto Valley Conference has been successfully organized.

Designed to begin operations as an all-football loop in the fall of 1962, the SVC will eventually be expanded to include competition among members in all scholastic sports.

Charter schools in the new league are Logan Elm, Paint Valley, Laurelville and Piketon. Of the quartet only Piketon has had previous league affiliation. The Pike County squad has taken its bruises with regularity in two years of Southern Ohio Conference play, going against much larger outfits from the Portsmouth area.

The idea for the new circuit was conceived by John Henn, Logan Elm principal, and Paint Valley head grid coach Dan Klips while the two were classmates during summer school at Ohio University, Athens. Letters of inquiry were sent to other schools and three meetings among representatives of the four institutions interested since mid-September led to today's announcement.

HENN pointed out Logan Elm, Paint Valley and Laurelville have been playing independent schedules. Since most Ohio schools now hold membership in some organized league, the independents were left little selection in their opponents or dates of games. Many times the non-league schools have been forced to go far out of their size and ability range to locate a match.

The new league, composed of schools similar in size and playing potential, is expected to correct most of these faults.

The formal organizational banquet to launch the circuit will be held at 8 p. m. Nov. 16 at Tink's Tavern north of Circleville. Boards of education of the member schools are expected to give final approval to the organization before that date.

At the dinner meeting David D. Way, assistant executive school head from Piketon, will be installed as the first president of the Scioto Valley Conference. Serving with him are Henn, vice president, and Klips, secretary-treasurer.

The league constitution, drawn up by the executive committee and Clyde Chilcote of Laurelville, will be offered for acceptance at that time.

Regular meetings of the executive committee are slated in August, October, February and May of each year. The first time the schools meet as members of the same league will be next spring in a night track meet at Piketon.

HENN explained the meet was designed to "acquaint the schools with each other as playing opponents." He added, "We have very high hopes the Scioto Valley Conference will afford a league in which schools of the same size can meet each other under championship conditions."

The first SVC football schedule will be announced during the Nov. 16 session.

On a paper comparison, Logan Elm's Braves go into the new league the strongest member. The Tribe pulled down a half-dozen victories in 1961, while losing only twice. However, graduation and new players could alter this situation by the time next fall rolls around.

2 More 11s Eyed For Aviation Bowl

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Two more teams have been added to the list of candidates for the first Aviation Bowl game to be played here Dec. 9.

The newcomers, announced today by Dr. David Reese, selection committee chairman, are Virginia Tech and The Citadel.

Already on the list of teams from which an opponent for the host Mid-American Conference champion will be selected are Rutgers, Wyoming, Detroit, Colgate, Villanova, Utah State, Wichita, Utah and Florida State.

Other leaders include sophomore Pete Pedro of West Texas State, who continues as the scoring leader, Idaho senior Dick Mooney in kickoff returns and Hugh Campbell of Washington State, the top pass catcher.

Pedro has 16 touchdowns for 96 points, but is closely pressed by New Mexico State's James Pilot with 90.

Mooney returned five kickoffs 87 yards against Utah State last week and retained his lead in that department with a total of 326 yards on 17 returns.

Campbell has grabbed 35 passes in 6 games, 10 more than Pat Richter of Wisconsin, the runner-up. Campbell also has the most pass receiving yardage, 469.

SPORTS

The Circleville Herald, Thur. November 2, 1961 11
Circleville, Ohio

'This Game Is It', Says Tiger Coach

"This one is it. We're as prepared as we can possibly be, and our spirit is excellent. I think we can win it." Thus said Circleville High School head football coach Carl Benhase today.

Benny, a seasoned grid mentor with a knack of obtaining maximum results from his players, was talking about tomorrow night's game pitting his battle-ready Tigers against Franklin Heights on the Falcons home field.

"We are not thinking about anything further in the future than the game with Heights," Benhase added. For the Tigers — owners of a 7-1 season slate and a 4-1 record in the South Central Ohio League campaign — this is sound logic. To stay in contention for the championship Circleville must win tomorrow. A defeat at the hands of the Falcons would mean the locals could do no better than tie for the top spot, and probably not do that.

Benhase, with a gift for putting a situation in a calm light, commented, "We know we will be up against a fine ball club, but if you compare league scores you find they aren't really unbeatable." The Falcons lost one in the circuit, to Wilmington Oct. 20 by a 14-12 count. They dropped Greenfield 44-28 last week, but were forced to press the first unit into full-game service to gain the decision. Circleville tamed McClain 21-8 Oct. 20.

BOTH CLUBS are among the four outfits deadlocked for top position in the SCOL. "We have no place to go but up there (Heights) to win," Benhase said.

Spearheading the Falcons attack will be Robin Pendleton, a 190 pound fullback noted as a powerful runner in any direction. The Franklin Heights' team utilizes an Iowa-type offense featuring a heavy emphasis on trapping the defense.

Combined with the running offense is an effective pass-to-the-flat style of aerial play the Tigers have not encountered in previous tilts this year.

On offense Circleville will probably attempt to throw more, since Heights is not known for its pass defense. Dave Hannahs, Tiger starting quarterback, is the man of the moment if the aerial attack is used.

The Bengals will have the full backing of an enthusiastic group of student and adult followers when they begin their trek Columbus-ward tomorrow. Two student pep rallies are on tap, one in front of the school on S. Court St. before morning classes and another the last period of the school day in the gymnasium. Signs strewn throughout CHS remind fans to "Boost the Tigers", and "Beat Heights".

Another rally, this one of the sendoff variety, is scheduled at the gymnasium about 5 p. m. when the team boards its buses to go searching for a league crown.

The way the Los Angeles Lakers are going they may very well win the Western Division championship of the National Basketball Association this year.

With Elgin Baylor and Jerry West combining for a total of 71 points the Lakers won their fifth straight Wednesday night, 120-115 over Cincinnati. In the other NBA game of the night the Detroit Pistons won their first game of the season, 111-95 over New York.

Baylor threw in 15 field goals and 11 free throws for his 41 points. He now has 239 points in seven games, second only to Wilt Chamberlain's league-leading total of 256.

Lesson in Logic Learned, Swami Calls SCOL Grid Results

By BUSTER BENGAL
(Herald SCOL Guesspert)

The Swami of the Scioto learned a lesson in football logic last Friday night — it is possible to argue with success.

Washington C. H. provided proof positive of this theory, blitzing Wilmington's bid for an unblemished season by a decisive 22-12 count in the upset for the year for the often-unsettled South Central Ohio League.

The stunning Blue Lion victory, coming just as everyone was about to write off the circuit pennant chase for another year, opened the doors for a statisticians' field day all over SCOL land. And "if" is the biggest word in at least a quartet of scattered loop grid camps this week.

Four teams in the eight-school league hold a share of first place with 4-1 records. There are two weekends of SCOL play remaining and, as things stand now, the championship may well be the first in years to go all the way down to the wire.

CIRCLEVILLE. Wilmington, Franklin Heights and Washington C. H. are bunched like bananas around the top spot. Clashes among the four will trim the cluster decidedly by the Nov. 10 closing date.

For the local Tigers, sole possession of the frontrunner's post after Friday's matches rests on a three-fold set of question marks: Circleville must defeat Franklin Heights, a king-size calling in anybody's book; Greenfield must upend Washington C. H. and listless Hillsboro would have to arise from the doldrums to drop Wilmington.

Should the Tigers lose, the best they could hope for would be a co-champ crown shared with as many as three other outfits.

In the fourth weekend of loop jousting the Swami sailed smoothly save for one jarring bump, and he confessed he's "just not sorry" about that.

The spoiler of Wilmington's success — WCH — also splintered the oracle's perfect prediction packet. It simply proves Hurricane quarterback Dwight Wallace doesn't own exclusive rights on all the downfield territory in the league.

Circleville performed as billed, turning back Miami Trace 28-12 after a rugged first half. Franklin Heights left little room for doubt about being a flag finalist, clobbering stumbling Greenfield 44-28.

PLEASANT VIEW was consigned to another year in the dank and dusty league cellar by Hillsboro on a 20-8 verdict.

The standings now show Greenfield holding down the slot behind the four leaders despite a loss. McClain had carded a 2-3 mark. Miami Trace follows, deadlocked with Hillsboro on 1-4 tallies. Looking downward Pleasant View is found at the bottom of the pile, coasting toward oblivion on an 0-5 ledger.

ping — put forth this slate of selections for Friday tilts:

The Lions are out for a slice of the crown. The hotter battle will probably be after the game, if things go as they have in past years.

North Carolina State Star Shines Despite Team's Drab Showing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Whatever happened to Roman Gabriel, the North Carolina State quarterback touted by many as the nation's best college football player this year?

The answer: Nothing and he still may well be the No. 1 college player. He certainly will make it tough for any contenders at his position. The only trouble is that his isn't a winning team so far, getting only two victories in six starts.

Gabriel ranks fifth nationally in forward passing, completing 65 of 123 attempts for 608 yards and six touchdowns. His 60.8 completion percentage is among the top ten.

Offensively, he has scored twice in addition to his six TD tosses, one of which got the Wolfpack a 7-0 victory over Wake Forest. He passed for two others in a 21-14 victory over Virginia, and has scored or accounted for touchdowns in the other four games.

This week Gabriel tries his wares against Mississippi Southern.

Michigan State, the nation's No. 1 team, probably will have halfback Gary Ballman for its crucial Big Ten game against once-beaten Minnesota. Coach Duffy Daugherty, who said "we needed the workout to sharpen our squad," made it through a midweek scrimmage yesterday without any damage.

Notre Dame Coach Joe Kuharich tried to solve his multiple injury problems by putting Gerry Gray at fullback for Mike Lind; Ed Hoerster at center for Tom Hecomovich; Nick Lehman at guard for Bob Buonoconti, and also inserted Dennis Murphy and Clay Stephens at ends.

Coach Ben Schwartzwalder said his Syracuse team will have to score four touchdowns this week to beat Pitt in the East's top game.

Jay Wilkinson, son of Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson, used a fine performance against North Carolina State to take over the major college lead in punt returns, the NCAA Service Bureau reported today.

Wilkinson returned five punts 160 yards, including an 82-yard touchdown gallop, against North Carolina State last week, boasting his season total of 252 yards on 12 punt returns.

Wilkinson also owns the best average, 21 yards per runback, among those making a comparable number of returns.

Views on Television-Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—It seems like yesterday when the only people who didn't want to be seen on television were Frank Costello and Virginia Hill—and their reluctance added much of the spice and excitement in the Kefauver hearings.

During TV's brief infancy, it was the dream medium for all the show-offs, the authors with books to plug, politicians with speeches to read, press agents with clients to exploit. For a long time, just about all doors were wide open to the boys with the electronic equipment and the bland, friendly question: "How does it feel to be a senator (or write a novel or invent a toy)?"

During the past couple of years, however, television has been growing a full set of sharp teeth. Some people are beginning to realize that the baby has learned to bite, and has been leaving tooth marks on sensitive hides.

Recently, David Brinkley had some cameras focus on a little boom town near Cape Canaveral. The town fathers were obviously delighted at the prospect of all the free publicity—until they saw the results. Their screams of dismay could be read in most of the nation's newspapers the day after the broadcast.

A short time later, presence of the Brinkley cameras not only upset some publicity-shy residents of Grosse Pointe, Mich., but seemed to reflect on the local police force. The police stopped an assault by the family of a prohibition era crime lord on the camera crew. Then, in Brinkley's words, they "took no statements, made no arrests and that was the end of it." And the whole nation heard about it.

This week, ABC's "Close Up" presented a documentary program about automation and its effects both on industrial output and workers thrown into technological unemployment.

It wasn't an easy show to put together, admitted executive producer John Secondari, because many, many doors—particularly to automated plants—were closed to TV cameras.

"A lot of people are frightened of television," he said. "And television depends upon the maximum cooperation on the part of its subjects for its effectiveness."

Recommended tonight: "My Three Sons," ABC, 9-9:30 (Eastern Standard Time)—one of the best situation comedies in the schedules; "Dr. Kildare," NBC, 8:30-9:30—a generally interesting drama about life in a hospital.

Jay Hebert went 50 holes without a bogey in the American Golf Classic at Akron, Ohio last summer.

Hornung OKd 2 More Games

Possible Army Duty
Stated for Nov. 14

CHICAGO (AP)—National Football League scoring champion Paul Hornung of the Green Bay Packers is free to play football the next two weeks pending results of a special examination to determine if he is physically fit for the Army.

Hornung is expected to leave the U.S. Navy Hospital at Great Lakes, Ill., today. Fifth Army headquarters announced Wednesday that he would not be called to military service until Nov. 14. He has orders from the 14th U.S. Army Corps headquarters at Minneapolis to report to Ft. Riley, Kan., for duty assignment to the 88th Engineer Company, "providing he is found physically qualified."

Hornung, who is suffering a pinched neck nerve which has sidelined him on occasions, will be available for duty with the defending Western Division champion Packers for games with the Baltimore Colts and the Chicago Bears the next two Sundays.

At Green Bay, Coach Vince Lombardi said: "I haven't the slightest idea if Hornung will play against the Colts Sunday. He has not been at practice and I don't know about that pinched nerve. We have accepted the fact that we are going to lose men to the military service. Our morale is excellent. We are in this business for one thing—to win."

Hornung entered the hospital for a special examination after a preliminary test Oct. 24 canceled an original date to report to Ft. Riley for active Army duty last Monday. Results of the test will be made known between now and his scheduled reporting date Nov. 14, it was announced.

3 New Rules Due To Face College Cagers

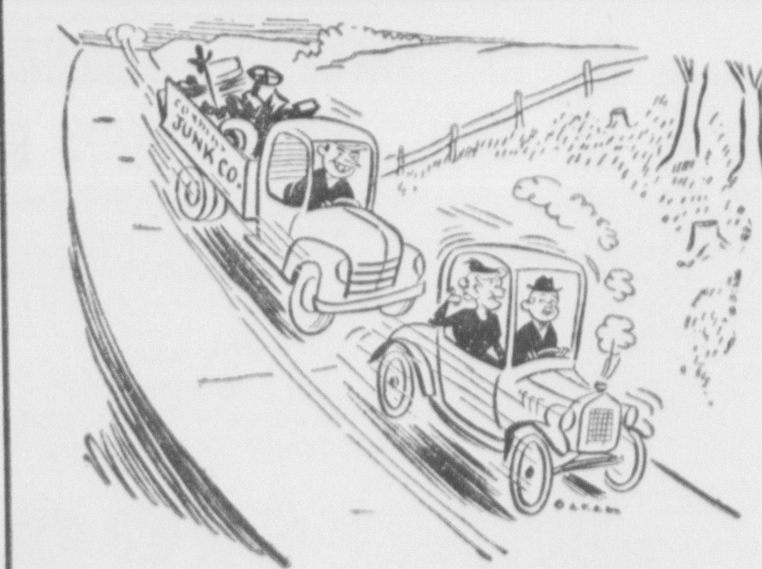

NEW YORK (AP)—Three new rules and a code of conduct for coaches will be in effect when the college basketball seasons opens next month.

The changes were recommended by the National Association of Basketball Coaches and adopted by the National Basketball Committee of the U.S. and Canada last March.

They will:

1. Eliminate free throws when a foul is called against a player on offense and in control of the ball. The fouled team will be given possession of the ball out of bounds as is now done in the professional leagues.
2. Stop the clock after every violation in order to give coaches greater opportunity to make substitutions.
3. Create a neutral and buffer zone along the free throw lane to separate the first and second players by a foot when they line up for free throws. The rule makers felt this would tend to lessen shoving.

Under the new conduct act, officials are instructed to penalize coaches or players on the bench who persist in stomping, throwing towels or committing other acts considered unsportsmanlike.

Gen. Van Fleet Apologizes To Stevenson for Remarks

FT. MONROE, Va. (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet has apologized to Adlai E. Stevenson for statements concerning the United Nations ambassador.

The general, who had been quoted as saying he would have fired Stevenson for his role in the ill-fated U.S.-supported Cuban invasion, said Wednesday night in a telegram to Stevenson: "My information from several sources regarding Cuba was evidently erroneous."

Van Fleet had been reported as saying Monday night in Lakeland, Fla., that U.S. air cover of the Cuban invasion was called off at Stevenson's insistence. Stevenson telegraphed Van Fleet on Tuesday, asking him to correct what he called a "totally false" statement.

"In view of your telegram, which I am glad to have," Van Fleet replied, "I stand corrected and am sorry for press statements which were, in fact, not accurate and completely out of context."

The Tampa (Fla.) Tribune had reported Van Fleet also said Berlin and Laos were lost to communism. There was a 50-50 chance South Viet Nam would be lost and neither West Germany nor France will fight for West Berlin and the United States shouldn't fight for them.

In his telegram to Stevenson, Van Fleet said he had received Stevenson's wire from his Auburn-dale, Fla., office and that office was forwarding accounts of the meeting from both the Tribune and the Lakeland Ledger.

"I want you to know that the meeting was a small group in closed session and remarks were made in answer to questions submitted by personal friends after my main address covering water resources in Florida, and I was assured there would be no press coverage," Van Fleet said.

The Tribune, which declined comment on Van Fleet's telegram, disputed the contention Van Fleet spoke out during a question-and-answer period. The Lakeland Ledger had a representative at the meeting but did not publish anything on his remarks, saying Van Fleet's secretary had said it was a closed session.

Van Fleet's speech to the Natural Resources and Waterways Committee in Lakeland occurred the day he was brought out of retirement to become a part-time consultant to the secretary of the Army on Reserve combat readiness and antiguerrilla training.
